Mid-Atlantic Hit, Worst in 33 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A snowstorm the Weather Bureau termed the worst in 33 years in the middle Atlantic region moved out to sea today, but its backlash continued a snow barrage to the north.

Winter's fury took another form in the lightly pelted northern Midwest — subzero cold intensified by a nagging, biting wind. International Falls, Minn., on the Canadian border, had 34 degrees below zero and a 20-mile wind.

Takes Four Lives

Under clearing or fair skies today, the Carolinas, the Virginias and Maryland were digging out from a snow blanket as deep as 15 inches in Richmond and Lynchburg, Va. The storm took two lives in Virginia. The 24-hour weather toll was at least four lives.

In Maryland, the storm closed schools, highways and businesses in most counties on the Eastern Shore and was blamed for one death. Highways were hazardous throughout the state.

The Weather Bureau said freezing temperatures in the next few nights would continue the driving hazards throughout North Carolina, where the snow measured 9 or 10 inches at Greensboro, Raleigh and Rocky Mount, and the temperature this morning was 4 below zero at Mt. Mitchell.

Long Island in Path

Although the snow accumulation was lighter on the coastal plain, the snow area extended south to Charleston, S.C., and westward into the Ohio Valley.

It was snowing today north of the storm's main target, with new accumulations of one to two inches from the Virginia Coast to southern New England. Forecasters said Long Island, N.Y., may get as much as five inches before the snow ends tonight.

An 8,000 ton merchant ship, helplessly adrift during the height of the storm, apparently had survived its fury. The Coast Guard at Portsmouth, Va., reported the SS Sea Train New Jersey had apparently stabilized a shifting cargo and regained steerage way in the choppy seas off North Carolina. There were 39 crewmen aboard.

Cold Covers 8 States

The early morning subzero cold zone extended from Montana to Michigan, covering at least parts of eight states. There were spots of below-zero weather in other states, and the chilly air carried heavy frost into the fruit-and vegetable-producing lower Rio Grande Valley. Farmers said damage was light, despite some temperatures in the upper 20s.

Across the northern states, some morning temperatures were Fargo, N.D., and Park Falls, Wis., 24 below; Billings, Mont., 13 below; Marquette, Mich., and Rapid City, S.D., 5

SOAR-CER—Ten-year-old Maribeth Grant soars through the air in her flying saucer on a Racine, Wis. hill. She was one of thousands of children taking advantage of Wisconsin's deep snow cover. This scene, undoubtedly, will be repeated throughout the Middle Atlantic region today after a storm, termed the biggest in years, choked much of the area with wind-piled drifts. The Virginias and the Carolinas were hard hit, and accumulations ranged up to 15 inches at Roanoke. (AP Wirephoto)

Feels All Reasoning Exhausted

Says U. S. Must Keep Up Pressure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, a top adviser to President Johnson, says the reasons for continuing the lull in the bombing of North Viet Nam targets are exhausted and "we must keep the pressure on."

His declaration was viewed as one of the strongest indications yet that the United States soon will resume its air strikes.

Taylor at LBJ's Side

Taylor, former ambassador to Saigon who now is a presidential consultant on Viet Nam, was at the President's side Tuesday night during a top-level White House meeting with congressional leaders.

Less than 24 hours later, Taylor told a New York news conference that he felt the bombing pause was justified "in spite of the obvious military disadvantages."

"We have shown friends and foes the sincerity of our peaceful purposes," he said.

"But the reasons for continuing it are exhausted."

He said, "We must keep the pressure on until the other side decides that there is no chance of our breaking."

Earlier in Washington, Secretary of State Dean Rusk said on Capitol Hill that the United States has carried its peace efforts "from A to Z and almost through Z."

Democratic Senate Leader Mike Mansfield, who has opposed renewal of air attacks on North Viet Nam targets, credited the President with having accomplished at the Tuesday night meeting the kind of consultation with Congress that some critics have been demanding.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, who wants the bombing pause extended, and Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has taken no position on the matter, have urged such consultations.

"Everyone present was invited and encouraged to give his views," Mansfield said in an interview. "This was consultation in the best sense, not just briefing. The President took under consideration everything that was said. We were in at the takeoff in the formulation of a vital decision."

Wants More of Same

Dirksen added, in a separate interview, that "it was the kind of consultation" he advocates "and we should have them more often."

The Republicans, he said, "have always urged our advice and opinions be sought and that we be given an opportunity to make alternative proposals, if we have any." He said Tuesday's meeting was comparable to President Dwight D. Eisenhower's consultations with congressional leaders.

Mansfield declined any further comment on the meeting but it was reported in other quarters that Johnson emphasized that the safety of American fighting men in Viet Nam must be of primary consideration in his final decision on whether to resume the bombings.

Coupled with his advance consultation, this would tend to diminish public opposition to any decision he may announce.

Although he did not attend the White House meeting, Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., stressed this point when he said the United States will be compelled to renew the air attacks "in support of our fighting men there and in order to cut off enemy supplies and infiltration." He said future targets ought to include supply and shipping centers in North Viet Nam.

LBJ Exudes Confidence, Caution for Economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today the naton has achieved the ability to ward off recessions, hold booms in bounds and keep an American economic miracle going in 1966.

Johnson attached a condition to this glowing outlook: wage and price decisions by labor and business must be "sound and responsible — just as I am determined that public decisions will be fully responsible."

"If they are," the President said, "the American economic miracle will remain in 1966 the single most important force in the economic progress of mankind."

This was in an 8,000-word message he sent to Congress along with the annual report of his Council of Economic Advisers.

The report was a bit less exuberant in language than the message. But sprinkled through both were sentences and phrases of unvarnished optimism, qualified here and there with a word of restraint or caution.

The forecasts are for more business, more jobs, more profits, more spending and what Johnson called a "strong thrust of progress."

The President said: "Our nation's industries, shops and farms — our workers, owners of business, professional men and women — prosper today far beyond the dreams of any people, anytime, anywhere."

The President made some other points:

Make Other Points

"Recessions are not inevitable."

"We have learned how to achieve prosperity."

"Our prosperity does not depend on our military effort."

"Our defense needs are great; but our growth is far greater."

"In only seven other countries of the world is TOTAL output in a year as large the INCREASE in our output last year."

"I am unwilling to declare a moratorium on our progress toward the Great Society."

"Expansion need not generate inflation."

Throughout the message and the economic report, nevertheless, there was repeated emphasis on holding the line against inflation.

Stresses Guideposts

Johnson told labor and industry, repeatedly and in various ways, that it is vitally important for them to follow guideposts set out by the three-man Council of Economic Advisers headed by Gardner Ackley.

Designed to keep wage and price increases with noninflationary limits, the guidelines are pegged to increased productivity. The council — and it gets some arguments on this — figures that increase at 3.2 per cent a year.

sticking to that percentage and It specifically recommends sticking to that percentage and holding all boosts within that boundary.

Geneva Talks Open, Ask A-Weapon Curb

GENEVA (AP) — President Johnson formally proposed today a seven-point program to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

The President acted in the face of escalating war in Southeast Asia and the possibility of acquiring atomic weapons by at least 10 nations in addition to the existing atomic powers.

Urged a Race Halt

In a message to the 17-nation disarmament conference opening in Geneva, Johnson urged that the atomic arms race be stopped and that existing stockpiles eventually be eliminated.

Pope Paul VI also sent an urgent appeal to the conference to do their utmost to erase the spectre of war.

Johnson pledged to work for peace and disarmament "even while our own nation is engaged in necessary resistance to aggression in Southeast Asia."

"We must press on with our work in Geneva," the President's message said. "It is true that our meeting is shadowed by continuing aggression against the people and government of South Viet Nam.

Note Differences

"There are differences among the members of this conference on Viet Nam, but these differences make our common interest in preventing nuclear spread and curbing the nuclear arms race all the more important to pursue."

Johnson said he had instructed U.S. delegate William C. Foster to seek a wide-ranging program that eventually would pave the way to nuclear disarmament. The seven-point program calls for a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons to nonnuclear countries, demands international safeguards over peaceful nuclear activities, calls for the strengthening of international security organization and the establishment of a system of inspections.

The Johnson proposal also seeks an international agreement "not to increase, and indeed to reduce, nuclear materials in weapons stockpiles."

It calls for a freeze "on offensive and defensive strategic bombers and missiles designed to carry nuclear weapons.

Suggests Exploration

Finally, it suggests exploration of ways for nations "to limit competition among themselves for costly weapons often sought for reasons of illusory prestige."

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant's representative delivered the Pope's message at the resumption of the negotiations here today.

"It is becoming more and more obvious that no lasting peace can be established until

Slate Hearings On Apartments

Public hearings on two petitions for zoning changes to permit garden-type apartment developments are due to be held next Monday night in the Common Council Chamber, City Hall.

One deals with a reapplication by Income Fund Enterprises, of Jamaica, L. I., which has announced modifications of plans for a $3,000,000 project in a Linderman Avenue area, and the other is for a proposed development on the Beatty Farm property off Hurley Avenue by an Albany firm. The latter would be one of 126 units.

A first application by Income Fund Enterprises failed to get final council approval, but the firm has since modified plans for a development on a tract of some 15 acres.

Both petitions have been approved by the Kingston Planning Board. The first hearing Monday is due to open at 7:30 p. m. They will be conducted by the council's laws and rules committee headed by Alderman Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward.

Light Snow Hits County; Mercury Plunges Upstate

Light snow dotted Ulster County again this morning after hitting different sections varying times. Snowfall reached no more than three-fourths of an inch anywhere locally, and offered few of the problems which resulted from Sunday's storm, biggest of the season so far with six to 15 inches.

Ellenville reported that the white stuff started to come down at approximately 8 a. m. Wtih the mercury hovering at 11 above zero, roads were sk ddy in that area shortly after the first flakes fell.

An hour before the minor storm started in Ellenville, it had stopped in Saugerties. Shortly after 7 a. m., skies cleared over Saugerties and less tha half an inch had accumulated. Motorists complained that some spots were icy; pointed out that the Blue Mountain Road, in particular, still has snow covering left over from Sunday morning's storm.

91 Cong Killed, 123 Are Seized in New Clashes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Allied forces reported today 91 Viet Cong were killed and at least 123 captured in their first sizable clashes since the end of the lunar New Year truce four days ago.

The South Vietnamese army's 9th Division struck the hardest single blow in a surprise attack on a Viet Cong training camp in the upper reaches of the Mekong Delta near the Cambodian border.

Many New Recruits

A government spokesman said 14 hardcore guerrillas were killed and 114 captured, including a training chief. The government troops also seized 117 suspects, many of them thought to be new recruits, and a batch of weapons and ammunition.

The 9th Division carried off the strike Wednesday morning by sending a regiment of infantrymen into the camp 80 miles southwest of Saigon while another regiment in armored personnel carriers blocked the enemy retreat. Government casualties were reported light.

A South Korean platoon patroling Route 1, the main north-south highway, bumped into a force of about 70 Reds Wednesday night near Bong Son, 275 miles northeast of Saigon. In the fight 35 Viet Cong were killed, two captured and two carbines seized while the Koreans took only light casualties, a spokesman said.

The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, operating in the same coastal plains as the Koreans, reported 27 Viet Cong killed and 78 suspects and eight tons of Communist rice stores seized.

Yield Soviet Rifles

U.S. Marines on similar missions outside the sprawling Da Nang military complex, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, counted seven Viet Cong dead and three captured. Three of the guerrillas were hit when the Leathernecks exploded grenades in a large tunnel, which also yielded three Soviet and two American rifles.

But 20 to 30 guerrillas caught a Leatherneck squad waiting in ambush 5 miles northwest of Chu Lai, another Marine coastal base 50 miles south of Da Nang, and inflicted heavy casulties, a spokesman said.

Two Marines manning a checkpoint failed to return Wednesday night. A patrol sent after them found they had been killed by the Viet Cong. Several other Marines were wounded by Communist small-arms fire and mines in other patrols near Da Nang and Chu Lai.

Bare Mine, Arms Dump

The U.S. 1st Infantry Division closed out an operation called Quick Kick 30 miles north of Saigon. It reported one Viet Cong killed and four captured but said its big achievement was the discovery of a primitive mine factory and arms dump. The haul included seven Claymore-type mines which scatter shrapnel, quantities of casing, a 500-pound bomb, gunpowder and other explosives used for terrorist devices.

U.S. air attacks concentrated on the Meking Delta. Air Force pilots said their bombs set off three large explosions that shot hundreds of feet into the air 85 miles southwest of Can Tho flames and black smoke indicating a hit on a fuel storage dump.

Avert Teacher Halt, Judge Reserves on 2

A walkout by Kingston school teachers on Tuesday, Feb. 1 has been, at least for the present, averted. Both sides in the dispute have agreed to postpone action until Supreme Court Justice Harold E. Koreman decides injunction matters now pending before him.

In a surprise move in Albany Wednesday, the Kingston Teachers' Federation applied for an injunction against the Kingston Board of Education's attempt to put into effect their liaison plan. This plan has been strongly opposed by the KTF because, in the words of Francis Martocci, attorney for the Federation, "it circumvents the desire of the teachers to choose their own representation."

Five-Hour Arguments

It was charged by the Federation's attorney that the attempt by the Board to institute this plan at this time is, in effect, an unfair labor practice.

After a five-hour argument of the matter before Justice Koreman at Albany special term, the Board of Education attorney, Vincent G. Connelly, agreed not to press the plan to have teachers elect representatives to handle grievances before the board. Judge Korman reserved decision on both the Board's motion for a temporary stay to prevent a walkout next Tuesday, and also on the motion of the Federation's attorney, Francis Martocci, for an injunction to prevent the Board putting into effect its liaison plan.

Unless the KTF teachers seek to violate the court's order staying all proceedings, there will be no strike.

The move for an injunction by

Designed by the New York City architectura firm of Hart, Benvenga, and Associates, the single story structure will contain examination and treatment rooms, eight two-bed rooms, five isolation rooms, and accommodations for a resident nurse.

Report Highlights of Fruit Show; Sessions Finish Today

Attendance at the three-day session of the Eastern New York and New England section of the New York Horticultural Society has been excellent, Thomas E. LaMont, secretary, reported today.

Wednesday afternoon Joseph Y. Resnick of Ellenville, spoke to the group on the labor problem, that of getting more harvest laborers into the area during harvest time.

One of the highlights of the session was the annual banquet held Wednesday night at Governor Clinton Hotel. The dinner, known as the controlled atmosphere dinner, was attended by a recent Apple Blossom Queen, Sandra Rockhill.

At the Wednesday afternoon program where Rep. Resnick spoke, there was a capacity attendance with many of the visitors standing.

One of the prime topics of the 1966 session of the society was that of yesterday's session, scarcity of labor on the fruit farms of the Hudson Valley and elsewhere in the apple growing areas.

Promotion of apple sales by use of color TV was discussed by L. W. "Monte" Marvin, Kingston office manager of the New York and New England Apple Institute.

Dr. Robert Smock of Cornell, who was the speaker at the banquet, spoke on "Pro's and Con's of Generators for C. A. Storage." He also spoke to society members on "Treatment of Apples for Scald."

Included on the program were two out-of-state speakers, one speaking on the use of high concentrates in spraying through use of smaller spray nozzles to cover trees and thereby use less

Aver $100,000 Track Bribe In Mintz Case Was Returned

NEW YORK (AP) — The alleged $100,000 bribe in the Finger Lakes Race Track licensing scandal was eventually returned, according to court testimony. But now a prosecutor has brought another alleged $100,000 payoff into the picture. And what happened to it is not known.

The developments were part of a jigsaw puzzle now being put together in State Supreme Court at the trial of former Sullivan County assemblyman Hyman E. (Bucky) Mintz on bribe conspiracy charges.

The first alleged $100,000 payoff ostensibly was to assure licensing of the race track near Canandaigua, N.Y. The movement of that money has been traced in court testimony.

But Wednesday, at Mintz's trial, Asst. Dist. Atty. David A. Goldstein said in opening remarks to the jury that a prosecution witness will testify "there was really a $200,000 payoff involved and that $100,000 was returned and $100,000 was kept." He did not say who kept it.

Mintz, 56, a South Fallsburg Republican who did not seek reelection to the Assembly last year, and Carl Kaplan, 52, former town of Fallsburgh police chief, are on trial together. They are charged with a misdemeanor count of conspiring to give a $3,000 bribe to a Manhattan district attorney's detective in exchange for information put before a grand jury probing the track scandal.

The first prosecution witness at the trial, Morris Gold, 36, once an assistant to Mintz in Albany testified Wednesday along the same lines as he did

3 Children Die From Monoxide Near Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — When their three grand children didn't arrive to spend the night, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ochin asked the youngsters' aunt and uncle to check the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baron.

As a result, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Sanford discovered Wednesday their nephew and two nieces dead and the mother, Mrs. Sanford's sister, critically ill from monoxide poisoning.

Dead are Peter Baron, 10, and his sisters, Joyce, 11, and Lieta, 4, of suburban Onondaga Hill.

Mrs. Marilyn Baron, 32, was in fair condition today at Community General Hospital, Syracuse.

Police said the fumes came from a clogged ventilation pipe leading from a propane - gas furnace at the Baron home.

Mrs. Ochin said the children were to spend the night with her as a treat, and she became worried when the Baron telephone didn't answer.

The father, Edward Baron, a construction worker, was not at home.

The Baron address is 4091 Griffin Road.

Asks FPC Establish Standards for Power

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Public Power Association says the Federal Power Commission should be given more authority if area - wide blackouts are to be avoided.

The association, representing 1,400 locally owned public power systems in the United States, issued that conclusion after a study of last November's power failure in the Northeast.

It recommended Wednesday that the FPC establish standards for the design and operation of interconnected, regional power pools.

The Nov. 9 blackout, triggered by the failure of a relay in Canada, affected 30 million persons in the Northeast.

Related recommendations included:

—Creation of a national defense electric transmission system and federally supplied emergency facilities.

—Development of new power sources for the Northeast.

— Strengthening of transmission ties and unification of regional planning.

Second Generation Trooper to Retire

Supt. Arthur Cornelius said Wednesday the 51-year-old officer was retiring to become director of security and safety with the Empire State Sugar Co., Auburn.

Keeley's father was the late Capt. John M. Keeley, one of the original recruits when the agency was formed in 1917, and his son, James, is a trooper.

A member of the force for nearly 30 years, he was appointed to his present post in 1963.

His address is 6 Overlook Ave., Cohoes.

State Gets $303,655

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York is among seven states that are recipients of $303,655 each for a project to identify major goals in education.

The Office of Education made the $2.5-million grant Wednesday and said it also was to help speed dissemination of new findings in curricula and teaching techniques.

The money is part of a $17.5-million allocation reserved for experimental projects proposed by state education departments.

Asks for FCC Controls

Controversy Rages Between Antenna Services, TV Chains

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The hue and cry over television's rich new competitor, community antenna television, is building up again.

As before, television wants the 16-year-old CATV industry regulated by the Federal Communications Commission.

And now that the FCC seems about to take some step in that direction, the burgeoning CATV industry is angry and demanding congressional help.

That help does not, at this stage, seem forthcoming.

Since 1950, people have been making a lot of money by erecting big television antennas near a community, plucking the signals of nearby and distant television stations from the air, and relaying them by cable into the homes of subscribers who pay an average monthly fee of $4.50.

Last year, the industry estimated it took in about $115 million.

CATV originated in small communities where television reception was poor or nonexistent. But over the years, the innovation caught fire and the CATV industry — with clearer and interference-free pictures as one selling point — began moving into big cities already served by several stations. The systems now offer up to 12 separate, simultaneous channels, some carrying programs from more than 200 miles away.

The first commercial CATV system was installed in 1950 in Lansford, Pa. Today, about 1,600 systems operate in 50 states. They serve 6.6 million persons in 2 million homes — or about 3 per cent of the television viewing audience.

In addition to the 1,600 operating systems, says the National Community Television Association, 250 are under construction, 600 have been granted community franchises, and 1,200 applications for franchises are pending.

As CATV grew, television became alarmed. Through the National Association of Broadcasters, FCC licensees complained that CATV was becoming a threat to free television. They urged the FCC to clamp down on it. CATV interests argued that no television station had been forced out of business or lost money because of CATV.

Some CATV systems — today about 250 — fell automatically under FCC rule because they use microwave relays systems, which are FCC-regulated, to pick up distant signals, relay them every 35 miles or so to boost their strength, and beam them to community antenna at full power.

But others, operating at shorter ranges, merely put up tall antennas to pick up signals within 100 miles without any retransmission between the sending station and the community antenna. These off-the-air systems have not been under FCC jurisdiction.

Some Legislators Cool to Liquor Reform

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A large bloc of veteran legislators is unhappy with the way Gov. Rockefeller's liquor "reform" program has worked out.

But the lawmakers aren't sure what they should do about it.

Two Major Complaints

The two major complaints are:

—The drop in retail prices that the governor promised never materialized.

—Too many package stores are being opened.

The governor has indicated he plans to stand firm on the changes he brought about in 1964 and his veto power gives him the final say in the matter.

But the legislative demands for a new look at liquor issues could force him to bend, if only slightly.

The 1964 changes apparently were based more on the political necessities of the moment than on a desire for meaningful change in the liquor laws.

Rockefeller was running hard for the Republican nomination for president when scandals erupted in the State Liquor Authority.

Disclosures of graft received nationwide attention. Rockefeller was embarrassed, as he traveled around the country, by questions about the scandal back home.

The governor called for fast action to clean up the problem.

He sponsored legislation to abolish:

—A long-standing system under which the power of the state was used to maintain prices at levels set by distillers.

—Distance requirements between package stores.

—A requirement, widely flouted, that places selling liquor for on-premises consumption must also do a substantial food business.

The Legislature balked at the first two requests. Critics argued that the changes would lead to cut-throat competition in the retail liquor business.

Package-store owners correctly guessed that elimination of the distance requirements was a prelude to the lifting of a 16-year-old moratorium during which no new package licenses had been issued.

Those owners, individually and through trade organizations, pleaded with their legislators to fight the governor's proposals.

Governor Adamant

Rockefeller was adamant. When the Legislature refused to pass his bills, the governor called it into special session to take them up.

He and his political aides brought intensive pressure. The measures were enacted.

Rockefeller had said that elimination of price-fixing would save consumers $150 million a year—about $1 a fifth. After the bills were passed, he said that he wasn't sure this would happen but that he hoped so.

It didn't happen. The liquor industry immediately turned to the state's fair-trade law and has since used that to maintain most prices at pre-reform levels.

Now, the Legislature is having a new look at the pricing system.

Many lawmakers protest that easing of restrictions on package stores has led to clusters of outlets in the same neighborhoods.

They complain that the liquor authority has been far too free in handing out new licenses.

After yielding to the governor two years ago, those lawmakers now believe it is time to make a few changes of their own.

Dual-Purpose Room

An extra room that serves as a den and sometime guest room should have floor and furniture to fit both purposes. An ideal flooring material is quarry tile, a type of ceramic tile that looks good anywhere. In addition, a durable floor makes a room appear larger than it is. Furniture manufacturers now are making space saving chairs that convert into single-sized beds.

WOMANHOOD ACHIEVEMENT

The Orient has traditionally been associated with the repression of women. It was the home of the veil, the harem, the practice of foot-binding and suttee.

The latter custom, which demanded that widows throw themselves on the funeral pyres of their husbands, originated in old India. Thus it is all the more significant that the third person chosen to lead that huge country's emergence into the modern world is both a woman and a widow, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, daughter of the late Jawaharlal Nehru.

She becomes the second woman in modern times to head an elected government. The first was also in Asia, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike of Ceylon.

This is something no nation in the Occident, despite all the progressivism of that part of the world, has achieved. Westerners are willing to worship women as goddesses, movie or otherwise, but not vote for them as presidents or prime ministers.

Mrs. Gandhi faces truly staggering problems in governing the world's largest democracy, the most acute of which are runaway population growth and worsening food shortages.

Her beginning has been auspicious; she has pledged to honor the peace agreement with Pakistan that was concluded by Prime Minister Shastri only hours before he died.

If her subsequent days in office are as encouraging, the East, in the person of Mrs. Gandhi, may well prove the validity of the saying popular in the West:

"Never underestimate the power of a woman."

Rain-making in 10 years is foreseen. If we'd spent a hundredth of what's been spent learning to rain nuclear death, rain-making would be going on right now.

HOUSEKEEPING NOTE

Housewives, who have a couple months more grace before spring cleaning time, can be thankful they aren't faced with year-round cleaning job some people have.

The people are the technicians who work in the "cleanroom" at Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., where rocket parts are disassembled and inspected.

To enter the cleanroom, a worker's shoes are first shined by an electric buffer. He then walks over a "tacky mat," enters an air lock and, as he makes one complete revolution, is blasted with scrubbed air.

Then donning a specially laundered "bunny suit," which covers everything except face and hands he goes through another air lock and crosses another tacky mat.

Inside the cleanroom, only plastic-coated blueprints are allowed and only ballpoint pens may be used. The ceilings are periodically washed with de-ionized water.

The fanatics in the laboratory really hate dirt, down to mere microns in size. A micron is 0.000039 of an inch.

They hate it with good reason, for a speck the size of the period at the end of this sentence, about 100 microns, is big enough to foul up a working rocket part. An early Jupiter rocket exploded because a two-inch line was contaminated with microns.

Some people may not approve of the space race, but at least they can't say it isn't good clean fun.

Prime Minister Gandhi of India, soon to visit Washington, may not be the world's top statesman yet, but she's already the best looking.

ULSTER'S TAX TAB

President Johnson's proposed $112.8 billion Federal budget will mean a tax tab of $83,887,104 for Ulster County residents on the basis of personal income.

New York State taxpayers share of the Federal spending will come to $14,979,840,000 or 13.8 per cent of the total. This represents a per capita cost of $845.50, which is $88.50 higher than in 1965.

In support of Federal spending, New York continues to lead the nation. California, the nearest competitor, will contribute 11.47 per cent of the Federal tax bill.

The estimated tax burden apportionment is furnished by the Council of State Chambers of Commerce for the Empire State Chamber of Commerce.

A new play, "The Wayward Stork," lasted only five performances on Broadway. It turned out to be a turkey.

QUIT OR GO BOOM

There are probably as many methods for stopping smoking as there are people who have kicked the habit or are trying to, but few are as desperately ingenious as this one reported by Prevention magazine.

It seems a Frenchman placed the following newspaper ad:

"I'd like to quit smoking. For this reason I'm looking for a job in a large gas station or in another highly inflammable or explosive working place."

THE NEED FOR OFF-YEAR ELECTIONS

One way to test the desirability of President Johnson's proposal to amend the Constitution to change the terms of House of Representatives members from two to four years, and to have the candidates run at the same time as the President, is to ask yourself whether or not you would like to see the 1966 House elections called off.

Personally, I would find it a most unappetizing idea. It would mean that people of the United States would be deprived of their right to express themselves in an effective way on a whole host of questions that have arisen since the big LBJ victory over Barry Goldwater. Since 1964 there has been a quantitative as well as a qualitative change in the Vietnamese War. The old problem of unemployment has been replaced by the threat of inflation owing to a lack of the manpower needed to produce both guns and butter. The stress of the anti-poverty crusade has shifted, for with more people at work because of the increase in the Gross National Product there is a greater temptation to use government anti-poverty funds for selfish political purposes. The "trigger happiness" issue has given way to fears of a bad peace in the Far East. In short, our social and political environment is already vastly different from the environment of late 1964—and we may need new men in the House of Representatives to cope with the change as the voters would have them cope.

Why a President should want to do away with our most reliable political barometer is understandable only in the light of human frailty. It is in the nature of the human animal to seek surcease from trouble, and if a person doesn't know the possible extent of the storm that is blowing up he can remain happy for a little longer. But LBJ should be the last man in the world to scoff at the need for political barometers, which are indispensable to the believer in "consensus." Johnson has spoken of the need to "change to meet the demands of change." To do this, a President must keep his antennae as perceptive as is humanly possible. Mid-term House elections are a main factor in maintaining the sharpness of a President's eyes and ears, which is something that should concern everybody, the President included.

It is not so much the length of the individual House of Representatives term that is important, it is the fact that the balance of House power can be significantly altered at short intervals by the voters in a way that will keep impinging on the Chief Executive's critical conscience. If there must be a change in favor of longer House of Representatives terms, it would be better to figure out a staggered system such as the one that governs the election of U.S. Senators. The glory of the Senate is that only a third of the membership is ever forced at any one time to think about the President's coattails when campaigning for re-election.

If the House were to be chosen every four years at the time of the Presidential election, it would be relieved of any immediate need to keep up with what the voters are thinking. The Senate, with a third of its membership up for election every two years, would become the more popular body. The House would become a rubber stamp for a strong-minded executive. If the House election term requirements must be changed, why not four-year terms with elections only in the Presidential mid-term year? Or why not three-year staggered terms, with a third of the membership going to the voters every year? This would have the disadvantage of adding to an atmosphere of political turmoil. But it would give us the equivalent of a permanent system of by-elections, and a President would really have to worry about "consensus."

Better yet, why not leave the system the way it is? It may be uncomfortable and expensive for a Congressman to have to campaign every other year, but the American system of government wasn't set up for the comfort of politicians. It was set up for the people.

3 New Drugs Hold Key For Scleroderma Victims

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Is there any treatment for scleroderma?

A—In scleroderma, or hidebound disease, the skin becomes thick and tight. The cause is unknown. The disease starts in a small area and gradually spreads. It may also involve the joints. The underlying mechanism is a replacement of normal elastic connective tissue with the type of nonelastic fibers found in scar tissue.

In the past treatment with cortisone, hormones and other drugs has been tried but without much success. More recently three new drugs have been found that will improve many of these victims. Potassium para-aminnobenzoate (KPAB) taken by mouth softens the hard fibers. This drug has also helped persons with Dupuytren's contracture and other fibrotic diseases. Disodium EDTA injected into the vein has proved beneficial in some patients.

The third drug epsilon aminocaproic acid (EACA) has three modes of action. Although it is not a steroid hormone, it reduces inflammation and, although it is not an antihistamine, it combats allergic reactions. It also acts as a diuretic or "water pill." The side effects with these three drugs were mild and were usually controlled by reducing the dose or discontinuing the drug for two or three days. All were most effective when given early in the course of the disease before irreversible changes had taken place.

Q—Is it harmful to refreeze meat that has been allow to thaw? If so what ailments would be caused?

A—Thawing and refreezing any protein food leads to chemical (nonbacterial) decomposition of the protein. Although there is no present evidence that, in the absence of germs that cause food poisoning, this would cause any sickness the foods would develop an unpalatable taste. Once thawed, meats should be kept in the refrigerator until ready to be cooked. Leftovers can be refrigerated again but should not be refrozen.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — There's an Alice in Wonderland quality about life in Cuba these days.

In one country town where a good many citizens have applied to leave for the United States, someone, unknown, has put up a crudely littered sign reading:

"THE LAST ONE, PLEASE TURN OFF THE LIGHTS."

From another town, a man writes:

"A lady friend of mine . . . wanted to know if, at the time of leaving the island, she could pay her rent with a check drawn against her bank account. She was told she could do so, but that before leaving the island she would have to refund the bank."

OTHER CUBANS WRITE of other experiences that sound like something written by Gilbert and Sullivan:

"In order to obtain the necessary permit for leaving Cuba, citizens must pay a visit to the Ministry of the Interior, where they have to fill several forms. After filling these, do you know where they are supposed to drop them? Inside an empty toilet paper cardboard box!"

"A friend of mine who is leaving soon, besides having all of his possessions confiscated, was forced to have his car painted before turning it over to the government."

"Five years ago, when the state confiscated all property, if you made the pertinent request, they would allow you to pay 10 per cent of your gross monthly income as rent. For example, if you were paying 50 pesos a month rent, but your gross income had dropped to 100 pesos monthly, they would authorize you to pay just 10 per cent, or 10 pesos a month for rent.

"These people who received this benefit five years ago, if they want to leave the island today, would have to refund the government the 40 pesos a month difference they have not been paying during these years."

BUT THE UNREALITY isn't limited to the exodus. One Cuban writes:

"This is to inform you that about 11 months ago I became a 'saint' (member of a secret voodoo organization). Many people are praticing this in Cuba now."

"Another of the big problems in Cuba today is moving," a man writes. "Even divorced or separated couples have to continue living under the same roof until they can find separate quarters.

"The case of some neighbors of ours is typical. This couple, with a child, decided to separate, but as there was no place to move, they had to continue living together. In the meanwhile, the woman met another man with whom she has had two children. Now, all of them live in the same house.

"The police have had to intervene in their quarrels several times. It seems the woman has been selling her ex-husband's ration quota in the black market and the man is going hungry. The Communist regime will not issue separate ration cards to each one while they are living under the same roof."

Budget Forecasts Are Made With Cloudy Crystal Ball

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — How many presidents of large businesses could inform their stockholders 18 months in advance of a specific date exactly how much money is going to be taken in during the interval, and how much is to be spent? Yet the President of the United States has just given the country an estimate that on June 30, 1967, receipts in the preceding 12 months will have increased by the enormous total of $11 billion over the previous year and that the budget will show a deficit of less than $2 billion.

Naturally, Mr. Johnson doesn't do all this forecasting by himself, but is dependent on a lot of financial experts. The sad truth, however, is that, no matter how conscientious they are, they cannot read the future. They cannot know what will be the ups and downs of business and how much taxes are going to be collected as a result of the business activity in the country.

During a period of 20 years—from 1947 to 1966 inclusive—budget receipts of the United States Treasury have been overestimated in exactly half of those years, while budget expenditures have been underestimated in 12 years.

An example of how erratic some of the estimates have been is shown by adding up the deficits and surpluses from 1955 to 1966, inclusive. For those years, the original estimates equaled an accumulated net deficit of $84 billion, but the actual figures finally showed a net deficit of $49.5 billion, or almost three times as much as the original estimates.

The last two fiscal years, 1964 and 1965, have run counter to previous experiences. Budget recepits at the end of each of the fiscal years were higher than estimated, and outlays were lower. But, despite all this, the net result was an actual combined deficit of $11.6 billion, against an estimated deficit of $16.8 billion.

It is less than six months now to the end of the current fiscal year June 30, 1966, but the official estimate now by President Johnson is that the deficit, which he forecast in January, 1965, at 5.3 billion, is likely, 18 months later, actually to come to $6.4 billion — an underestimate of more than a billion dollars.

The January, 1966, estimate for the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1967, may turn out the same way. It may reveal an overestimate of receipts and an underestimate of expenditures. There was a time when a budget document was regarded as a bookkeeping or economic tool, designed to gauge the impact of Federal finances on the economy. In the last ten years, however, this has changed drastically, and the estimates of the budget 18 months in advance have become more and more a political weapon wielded by the incumbent party.

President Johnson startled many observers by his announcement that receipts are going to jump $11 billion in the next fiscal year. It is true that in war years, when huge tax increases are made, this has happened, but never in any peacetime years. Receipts have jumped considerably at different times, due to sharp increases in tax receipts or immediately after a recession. But is is surprising to find a Presidential estimate of $11 billion increase in receipts in one year after at least three years of continuing prosperity.

Some of the figures, of course, which are placed among expected receipts of the budget are not derived from taxes owed in that same year, but represent accelerated payments. Instead of letting the corporate taxpayer pay his taxes at the end of a calendar year or fiscal year, as the case may be, a business is expected to pay sums one year that normally it would not pay until the next year.

In effect, the government is borrowing from the following year's tax payments without paying interest on the advance. The object, of course, is to put corporate taxes on a "pay as you go" basis. But once the change has been made, the ensuing years will not show any doubling up of tax payments. What is being done today might be called "borrowing from Peter to pay Paul."

Likewise, when the coinage is changed and the silver is taken out of quarters and half-dollars, and the metal thus saved is regarded as a "profit" by the Federal Treasury, it seems strange to record this as a "receipt" in the same category as other levies, when it is a nonrecurring item. So it is hard to get any idea of whether the Federal government is truly approaching a balanced budget or getting farther and farther away from it.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Somewhere in the distance I hear the politicians and the powers that be speak of a state lottery, like giving a dessert to a dissatisfied child who had to eat spinach. They konw the people better than the people know themselves for by the time another election rolls around the present two per cent tax, will feel like an old shoe, and no one will remember how it could be any different.

Looking in Captain Hickey's book on the history of Kingston, on page 101. George Washington, whose birthday is in February, (he was the first president of the United States, and refused to run for a third term,) personally managed one lottery in 1768, to raise money for a road through the Cumberland mountains.

Not only is our national history dotted with lottery ideas to raise money, but even going back to 1799, in the New York State Gazeteer of 1860, when some $100,000 was raised by four lotteries, $87,500 of which was appropriated for the support of common schools. In 1801, $100,000 more was raised by lottery for school purposes, of which sum $50,000 was devoted to common schools.

I think it was in 1957 that councilman Robert Barnes of Queens and Assemblyman Fred W. Preller of Queens wanted a state constitutional amendment which would legalize municipal sweepstakes.

There is some information in Clearwater's book of Ulster County, New York on page 82 telling about a lottery which was granted to provide some 2,000 pounds, for rebuilding the Ulster County Court House in Kingston on the grounds where the Court House was before it was burnt by Sir. John Vaughn in 1777. These were not for raising of salaries, but for necessary buildings in a community. Perhaps the money thus raised could give large increases of salary to everyone.

Recently I heard on a broadcast that said nearly six out of 10 are now employed by the government in one capacity or another. Of course that is fine. There are no lay-offs, whether business is good or bad, and the pay check comes in weekly or twice a month, as the case may be. One seldom if ever gets fired from such a job. There is a security, such as were unknown some years ago. No doubt as time goes on everyone will work for Uncle Sam. The job is steady, the pay will be good, and one can take it easy, or at times, work not at all, just report for work, have the coffee breaks and be back in time after lunch. So different from private employment, where every employe must produce, so the employer can stay in business to pay his taxes, his help and overhead.

I received an interesting letter from Joseph V. Phelan of Shokan, who read in a sports column of a fisherman who said he caught a young sturgeon about 18 inches long in the Hudson. The columnist, it seems wrote that he doubted if the fisherman caught a sturgeon in the Hudson as "there now or never have been sturgeon in the Hudson River."

Mr. Phelan feels the columnist was wrong as "During the years around the turn of this century, Fredenburgh Brothers, commercial fisherman in Hamburg, just above Catskill village, netted sturgeon eight and 10 feet long in the waters of the Hudson off Rogers Island and just about where the Rip Van Winkle Bridge spans the river. In fact, at the time, smoked sturgeon and sturgeon roe, in season, were retailed at Fredenburgh Brothers Fish Market on lower Bridge Street, in Catskill, N. Y. ..."He adds" that presently sturgeon and steurgeon-roe, Russian caviar is purchased from Russia." That is why it is so important that the Hudson River be cleaned up and its tributaries so we can once again enjoy our own native American brand of smoked sturgeon and caviar." I remember when fish from the Hudson was a delight to eat, now one is fearful of the little fish from our own nearby river.

Expect Modification Of Withholding Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal for graduated withholding of personal income taxes probably will be modified to reduce the bite on middle-and upper-bracket paychecks before the legislation goes to the House floor.

Hearings Resumed

This was the outlook today as the House Ways and Means Committee resumed hearings on Johnson's $4.8-billion tax package of which graduated withholding is a part. Major components of it are a reimposition, for two years, of automobile and telephone excise taxes that had dropped Jan. 1 and a speedup in corporate tax collections.

Graduated withholding, like the corporate tax speedup, does not increase the amount of tax paid. It is designed to put collections more nearly on a pay as you go basis, so that fewer make-up payments would be required at the end of the year.

However, the schedule prepared by the Treasury and written into the bill has come under fire on the ground it calls for too much withholding from higher-income taxpayers, with the result that many of these would have to apply for refunds and would have money tied up without earning interest.

Dems Join GOP Critics

Republican members of the committee first raised this objection. A check today indicated substantial sentiment on the Democratic side also for adjustment of the withholding schedule.

The Treasury's own explanation of the bill concedes that the number of taxpayers in the $10,000-a-year and above income brackets who have too much tax withheld would be increased by the terms of the measure. Some critics say the effect would reach as far down as the $5,000 bracket.

The Treasury estimates that, of the 9 million taxpayers who file returns under the present system on incomes of $10,000 a year or more:

— 2.9 million have too much withheld from their paychecks. This number would increase to 5 million under the new system.

— 5.7 million now do not have enough withheld. This number would decrease to 3.4 million.

— 400,000 approximately break even. This group would increase to 600,000.

On the other hand, the Treasury says the changes it backs would greatly reduce the overwithholding of tax from lower-bracket taxpayers, relieving 12.6 million in the under $5,000 bracket and 2.6 million in the $5,000-$10,000 bracket.

Report Unusual Events at First White House Fete

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early - departing President, a vice - presidential slip of the tongue and a borrowed chef were all part of the launching of the 1966 White House social season.

Here's how it went as the President and Mrs. Johnson entertained 180 tuxedoed and elegantly gowned guests Wednesday night to honor Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Chief Justice Earl Warren:

Retired Early

—Johnson retired to his private quarters almost immediately following after-dinner entertainment by Broadway luminary Tammy Grimes, who belted out a half dozen show tunes that drew some attention away from her clinging gold lame' gown. Johnson went to his living quarters with Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

—Humphrey, responding to a toast in which the President described him and Warren as representing "the finest traditions of public service and of private integrity," got his titles mixed up and addressed Johnson as "Mr. Vice President."

—The Johnsons, whose new chef reports for duty Feb. 1, borrowed William H. Dallas from the staff of neighboring Blair House to prepare the meal which, perhaps by design, lacked any of the French touches favored by the old chef, Rene Verdon, who quit with a blast at White House menus.

Johnson's early departure never was explained. Mrs. Johnson, gowned in sunshine yellow silk, mingled and danced with the guests for about another hour before retiring shortly after midnight.

HHH and Wife Stayed

Humphrey and his wife Muriel stayed until the departure of the First Lady.

Humphrey's slip of the tongue during the toasts was received impassively by the President.

Humphrey apparently erred because he had just been talking at some length about vice presidents, which seemed natural enough for a man in his position.

Wedding Slated For Tina Louise, And Les Crane

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Tina Louise, the voluptuous castaway of "Gilligan's Island," will be married April 3 to Les Crane, the undaunted two-time loser of ABC's Nightlife show.

Miss Louise reported the news at rehearsals for this week's Red Skelton show.

Set March 20 Date

"We were going to get married March 20, which is the first anniversary of when we met," explained the actress, who had performed a dance in a negligible costume. "But so many of my friends will be in Europe at that time that we postponed the wedding until April."

The wedding will be the first for Miss Louise, the student of New York's Neighborhood Playhouse and Actors Studio who first achieved fame as Appassionata Von Climax in 'Li'l Abner" on Broadway. Crane was married once before.

The pair met in a modern manner — at a discotheque.

"It was at the Daisy Club last year," Miss Louise recalled. "I was coming in and he was going out. He was with Paddy Chayefsky, whom I know and adore, and Paddy introduced me to Les. Somehow they found a reason to return to the Daisy that night, and we talked until 4 a.m.

"Then I suggested they come to my house for breakfast, and we talked some more. But I must admit that I was more interested in talking to Paddy than Les."

High Paid Talker

Time changed that. Crane is one of the country's highest paid talkers, having starred twice in ABC's answer to Johnny Carson. He was putting in his second tour of duty with the late-night show while courting Tina.

"It was crazy," she remarked. "I was here doing 'Gilligan's' and he was stuck in New York doing 'Nightlife.' Every other weekend I'd fly to New York to see him, and on the other weekend he'd fly here to see me. Once I had only one day off, but I went to New York anyway."

The travel situation was eased when his show was shifted to Hollywood. But once again the show succumbed to low ratings.

He plans to work in Hollywood, since Tina will be stranded on "Gilligan's Island" for at least another season.

Ulster Selects Castiglione for Park Group Head

Members of the Town of Ulster Park Commission, named on Jan. 1 to take under advisement the development of the 68 acres acquired by the town along the Hudson River, met Wednesday night to organize.

The 68-acre tract along the river was acquired in 1963 by the town through state assistance, the state paying 75 per cent of the cost and the town the balance of 5 per cent.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz opened the session and called for selection of a chairman.

Sal Castiglione, local business man of Flatbush Avenue, who is thoroughly familiar with the new park area, was selected as chairman of the commission. William Reilly, Hinsdale Street, office manager for the Nytralite Aggregate Company of Eddyville, was named secretary. Other members of the commission attending the meeting were Nicholas J. Valenzano, service manager for Kingston Coal and Oil Company; Joseph Benjamin, resident manager of Central Hudson; Joseph Senor, Hercules Powder Company employe and fire commissioner of the Ulster Hose No. 5, Fire District. Also present was Councilman William Costello, Justice of the Peace Robert Stedge and Town Superintendent of Highways, Edgar Elliott.

The members of the commission reviewed land maps of the area, pointed out many preliminary steps which must be taken and discussed a master plan and the matter of ingress and egress to the land.

Study will be made of topographical maps and aerial photographs which have already been made will be studied by the commissioners to determine how best the area can be converted to recreational use.

The Park Commission designated the first Tuesday of the month for regular meetings which will be held at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

After the Commission has made a study of the area and tentative plans arrived at the Commission will report recommendations to the town board as to what can be done to develop the area.

It was also announced that at the next meeting of the town board Wednesday, Feb. 9, a public hearing would be held on the Large Scale Development ordinance which has been proposed by the Town of Ulster Planning Board. The public hearing will be held at 7 p. m. at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

Copies of the proposed ordinance are now available at 35 Vincent Street, Supervisor Musialkiewicz reported.

Charge Dismissed

A disorderly conduct charge against Fred James Curry, 19, of Franklin Street, was dismissed in city court today and he was given a six-months suspended sentence on one dealing with resisting arrest. His arrest followed a report to police several weeks ago that he had been sleeping in a hallway on Liberty Street. Attorney Joseph D. Hill appeared with him in court today.

Greene GOP to Meet Feb. 2 on 28th Seat

Greene County Republican Committee will meet Wednesday, Feb. 2 to choose between two GOP hopefuls they will support for the 28th Congressional seat.

The meeting was scheduled at Wednesday night's GOP Executive Committee session.

The full committee is expected to hear both Alexander Aldrich, cousin of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who recently resigned from his post as the governor's executive assistant, and Hamilton Fish Jr., Dutchess County resident. Aldrich is a resident of Chatham Center, Columbia County.

Both are contenders for the seat now held by Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville).

91 Cong Killed

ernment's official press agency reported that an armed Viet Cong platoon of 14 men, 18 to 30 years old, defected to the government at Phuoc Binh, 75 miles northwest of Saigon, last Thursday.

Hanoi Radio announced that the Viet Cong had released 15 South Vietnamese officers captured last year.

The broadcast said the men carried anti-American signs and shouted Viet Cong slogans on their way back to Quang Ngai, a provincial capital 30 miles south of Chu Lai.

Will Free 20 Reds

The Saigon government announced Wednesday that it would free 20 North Vietnamese prisoners at the border Sunday. Their release had been promised for the New Year celebration but was delayed.

The suspension of U.S. air attacks on North Viet Nam was in its 35th day, but the belief in Washington was that President Johnson would issue orders soon for resumption of the bombing.

Several congressional leaders after a long briefing at the White House reported that the North Vietnamese had used the bombing lull to rebuild roads and bridges, enlarge supply depots and move new military equipment toward the South.

The Japanese government was reported dismayed at the possibiity of resumption of the air attacks on North Viet Nam. Japanese leaders felt this would stall — and probably scuttle — the dipomatic campaign their government began this week to reopen the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina.

Driver Is Booked

A driver was booked on two charges after a mishap on Henry Street near Oak Street reported at 7:35 p. m. Wednesday. Nickoles Gonzales, 34, of 652 Broadway was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and with lacking a license after his car allegedly struck the parked car of Edward Fleming, of 140 Henry Street. Indalecio Rivera, 49, of 60 Cedar Street, riding with Gonzales, reported a chest injury and was treated at Kingston Hospital. City court hearing of Gonzales was today put over to Feb. 3 and he is under $100 bail. Officers Harry Short and James Scott investigated.

Moscow Asserts Mott Got Blade In U.S. Package

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow Radio asserted today the U.S. Embassy had not exhausted bail or exchange possibilities in the case of Newcomb Mott and furnished the razor blade with which he cut his throat. The embassy called the account "a rather distorted version of the facts."

The broadcast said Mott, 27, received the razor blade in a package of personal effects from the embassy. An embassy spokesman retorted that the Russians still have not identified the instrument that made the fatal wound.

The embassy also showed irritation at the charge regarding bail and an exchange of prisoners. Mott, from Sheffield, Mass., died Jan. 20 on a Soviet train taking him from a Murmansk jail to a labor camp to complete an 18-month sentence for entering the Soviet Union illegally.

The spokesman declared the embassy had exhausted all possibilities in an attempt to get Mott released on bail.

The embassy has refused to accept or reject the Soviet suicide explanation pending the outcome of a full investigation promised by the Russians.

Moscow Radio said Mott was in a compartment of a prisoner train and had beat himself against the walls before cutting his own throat in a "state of violent nervous disorder."

Mott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mott, have said they think the Russians murdered their son.

The embassy, meanwhile, took possession of the body of Mott, a book company salesman arrested last Sept. 4. The body will be shipped home by plane Friday night.

Light Snow Hits

The road is maintained by county highway crews.

Some Schools Close

At approximately the same time the snow was ceasing in Saugerties, it was falling hard in Newburgh. Newburgh reported the height of the storm at 7 a. m. Schools there were ordered closed due to weather conditions.

Other school closings announced today were Marlboro and New Paltz, where both public and parochial and the nursing school shut their doors.

Slow City Traveling

Traffic through the City of Kingston moved slowly early this morning during the height of the work rush as wary motorists kept speeds low and a foot close to the brake. The snow had stopped falling in the city by 8:30 a. m., but many streets retained an icy undercoating from the weekend storm. Official low temperature listed by Kingston City Engineers this morning was eight above zero.

The same reading of eight above was reported officially at the Ashokan Reservoir gatehouse, where snow accumulation was measured at three-fourths of an inch.

Woodstock, situated in a valley, reported higher but unofficial temperatures of 14 degrees above zero. Snowfall there was less than an inch but this was enough to make some roads, including the county maintained Glasco Turnpike, slippery.

Trucks Out Early

Sanding machines were out early, and they could probably stand ready to take to the roads again with occasional snow flurries predicted for tonight and Friday. Revising its regional forecast for the western Catskills, and upper and lower Hudson Valley, the Associated Press predicted some snow with low tonight eight to 12 above, and 10 to 15 above highs tomorrow. Light and varible winds should prevail through Friday.

Elsewhere in the state, the AP reported gusts buffeted snow across Long Island today, while much of Upstate New York, deprived of any substantia snowfall, again was encased in subzero temperatures. The Weather Bureau said the cold would linger into Saturday.

Heavy snow that had been forecast for southeastern New York skipped off into the Atlantic, instead, but continued scattered snow or flurries were predicted for the state and 1 to 3 inches had fallen in the New York City area.

The mercury dropped 12 degrees in an hour at Watertown, from 7 below to 19 below between 5 and 6 a.m., and later to -20, two degrees above Wednesday's low. Most places warmed up a little from Wednesday.

Other overnight lows included:

Olean -12; Massena, Syracuse and Wellsville -11; Plattsburgh -10; Elmira -9; Rochester -4; Buffalo -1; Utica 2 above; Albany and Glens Falls 3; Binghamton 4; Oneonta 5; Poughkeepsie and Newburgh 10; New York City 19; Westhampton Beach 23.

U.S. Jet Downed

TOKYO (AP)—Peking's New China News Agency said today North Vietnamese forces in the frontier province of Quang Binh shot down a U.S. jet Wednesday and its pilot was captured. The pilot was not identified.

Though the American bombing of North Viet Nam was suspended Christmas Eve, reconnaissance planes have been making runs occassionally to photograph troop movements and rebuilding operations.

Legion Oratorical Contest Is Friday

Kingston and two other Ulster High schools will be represented in the annual Ulster County American Legion Oratorical Contest finals at 2 p. m. Friday in the Highland High School, Pancake Hollow Road, Highland.

Robert Wattles, chairman, said that Kingston will be represented by Linda Policano, a junior in Kingston High School, and Catherine Ann Stall, a seior in St. Ursula Academy. He said that Wallkill and New Paltz also will be represented.

Miss Stall recently won first place in the initial phase of a Knights of Columbus oratorical contest and will participate in a county-wide contest Feb. 17. Winners of the American Legion contest also will advance to regional participation, it was announced.

Britains Cast Ballots

HULL, England (AP)—Voters cast their ballots in a special parliamentary election today that could reduce Prime Minister Harold Wilson's majority in the House of Commons to one vote, but the odds were running in Wilson's favor.

A public opinion poll by the Conservative Daily Mail predicted that Wilson's Labor party would get 48.9 per cent of the vote in the Hull electoral district and the Conservatives 40.7. It gave the tiny Liberal party 8.7 per cent and the three independent candidates 1.7.

Betting odds, which during the past week favored the Conservatives, swung heavily to Labor.

Wilson now has a majority of two in the 630-seat House of Commons.

Rusk Sums It Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, looking harried and weary Wednesday, offered a congressional committee this bit of philosophy:

"The world is round. Only one-third of the human beings are asleep at any one time. And the other two-thirds are awake and up to some mischief somewhere."

Cowboy Hat Trouble

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Hombres wearing cowboy hats had a tough time of it poking around downtown New Orleans.

"Anybody we found with a cowboy hat, we questioned," said police Lt. Harold Foster.

Two badmen—one in a 10-gallon hat—had robbed a clerk of $100 Wednesday.

Threaten Rent Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The painters union passed out leaflets Wednesday urging other labor temple tenants to join in refusing to pay rent.

Leaflets said the San Francisco Labor Council, the owner, should make repairs—including a new coat of paint.

Boy Hurt Sledding

Robert Genther, 6, of 58 Boulevard, injured in a sledding mishap in Lawton Park Wednesday afternoon, was treated at the Benedictine Hospital for a head laceration. Police were told that he struck a barricade at about 2:55 p. m.

Between 1896 and 1915, about 35,000 electric cars were built in the U.S.

Principal Sought In Yonkers Fire, Undergoing Tests

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy sought on a warrant charging him with setting a Jewish Community Center fire that killed 12 persons has been located — already in court custody and undergoing psychiatric tests in a hospital.

Yonkers police had sent out an alarm for the boy to 22 states and the District of Columbia on Tuesday, when they were unable to locate him at home or at school.

Undergoing Tests

Wednesday, it was disclosed that the boy, Thomas Ruppert o. Yonkers, had been in Grasslands Hospital in nearby Valhalla undergoing psychiatric evaluation on orders of the Westchester County Family Court at White Plains.

Ruppert had been picked up by family court officials for alleged violation of probation in connection with a charge brought against him before he was 16.

Leonard Rubenfeld, Westchester County District Attorney, said he had known the boy was seized Tuesday morning on orders of the family court. But that same afternoon the 22-state alarm was issue for Ruppert.

The boy's father, Robert, a truck driver, said he also knew Tuesday that his son was in family court custody and had so informed Yonkers detectives.

Knew Whereabouts

Daniel F. McMahon, Yonkers director of public safety, was asked Wednesday why the police had been unable to locate young Ruppert when the district attorney and the boy's family knew where he was. "No comment," said McMahon.

Ruppert, whose mother is a hospital cancer patient, lives with his father and seven brothers and sisters. He was described by the father Wednesday as a "sensitive kid" who "cried all day after the police had questioned him."

He had been questioned early in the investigation of the Dec. 20 fire that killed nine children and three adults at the Yonkers Jewish Community Center, but he was allowed to return to his part-time janitorial job at the still-operating center so detectives could keep an eye on him.

The warrant for his arrest charges arson in "wilfully starting the fire" by spreading the contents of a five-gallon can of gasoline and igniting the fuel. Police say they know the motive but they have declined to make it public.

Mid-Atlantic Hit

below; North Platte, Neb., and Dubuque, Iowa, 3 below.

In Nashville, Tenn., a woman apparently froze to death after a fall in a vacant lot Wednesday. Oneida, near the Kentucky line, had a-4 reading this morning.

Wind carried freezing temperatures this morning into northern Florida and the central gulf region.

In Washingtton, D.C., government offices closed early Wednesday and sent employes home.

Light Snow in Florida

A half hour's light snow fell in Fort Walton Beach, Fla., the first such precipitation in 10 years. There was no accumulation, however, in the northwestern Florida city, and it was 66 degrees in the southern part of the state where Key West had warm rain.

In Georgia where snows ended and skies were clearing, temperatures dropped into the 20s during the early morning. The state had snow cover ranging from about one inch in Atlanta to a foot at Hogpen Gap in the northeast mountain area.

Bowie race track in southern Maryland canceled Wednesday's program because of snow, and in eastern Tennessee, where temperatures were in the teens, schools remained closed in about 30 counties.

Some schools were closed in Pennsylvania where the snow was ending, but the concentration of snow cover was in the eastern portion of the state, the western third of Pennsylvania being virtually untouched by the storm.

Temperatures sank below freezing in the semitropical Lower Rio Grande Valley, forcing citrus growers to light orchard heaters and burn blocks of solid fuel. The mercury dived to unofficial readings of 29 degrees around Harlingen and Edinburg, Tex.

A storm in the Far West pressed across California and rains were expected to spread over the Southwest during the day.

Switches Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield switched to new tactics today — longer hours — in an attempt to counter the filibuster against the bill to prevent states from banning union shop contracts.

Mansfield called the senators in two hours earlier than usual to try to put some additional pressure on the tightly organized foes of the bill.

The same plan was tried unsuccessfully last fall in the initial Senate floor fight over the measure to repeal section 14B of the Taft-Hartley law.

William R. Grubb

WASHINGTON (AP) — William Robert Grubb, special assistant to the controller of the currency, died in a Washington hospital Tuesday night after he suffered a heart attack. Before joining the Treasury Department in 1963, Grubb, 50, was a newsman and public relations specialist.

Greeks Counter Strikes

ATHENS (AP) — The Greek government went into action today to counter transport and bakery strikes, but the garbage still wasn't being picked up and streets weren't swept.

The government mobilized striking bus and trolley workers in Athens and Piraeus. The first buses rolled after midnight.

The country's 20,000 bakers struck Wednesday night for six days, and the government ordered soldiers and policemen with baking experience to man the ovens.

A strike by municipal workers throughout the country is in its fourth day, but so far the government has taken no action in that field.

All the strikers want more pay.

"The kids got a good, swift kick in the pants and they were more respectful. Not like the kids of today with their fancy lawyers."

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Heloise:

I married into an Italian family and my wife is raising our kids on spaghetti. True—she makes the best sauce in the world—and it's cheap.

However, I happen to be one of those who doesn't care for spaghetti, but loves the sauce. I had, heretofore, put the sauce on crackers or bread and eaten it that way!

Last month, my darling — knowing that I love rice—fixed me some of the instant kind. I piled it on my plate in a big mound, and topped this with her excellent sauce.

Now, whenever we have spaghetti sauce (whether or not we have meat balls), she serves it with rice one time and spaghetti the next. Sure makes it different. The other night we tried the sauce on eqq noodles, and that was good, too.

Thought I should pass this along, so that your other readers might get the drift.

Arthur S.

Now, aren't you a real pal? Thanks for taking the boredom out of the usual spaghetti.

We all appreciate you.

Letter of Laughter

Dear Madam:

I have a question I would like you to clear up for me.

You use the word "Blub-Blub" quite often.

I have asked every one what a 'Blub-Blub" is, and no one seems to know.

Will you please explain what it means,

Chas. Struebnig

Sir, I imagine this would be confusing to a man, but most women know that "Blub-blub" is the noise a large bottle makes when you pour something from it. I reckon it's about three tablespoonfuls . . . or thereabouts . . .

Dear Heloise:

As my ears are pieced—and I cannot always find inexpensive earrings that are unusual—I hit upon this idea:

As long as there is lattice work around a regular earring, the back can be removed, and your own wires put in the lattice work.

Inexpensive charms or pendants can also be made into pierced earrings by purchasing two, removing the chain or backing, and replacing with your own wires.

This way I have many pairs of pierced earrings — and many compliments, also.

Weak Opening Is Punished

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Sometimes the experts in the trials agreed with ordinary players. At four of the nine tables in the trials this hand was passed out when no one could find a good reason to open the bidding. At the other five tables East decided to make a weak two bid in third seat. At four of these five tables, everyone passed. In all cases South opened his doubleton club and eventually the defense collected six tricks to set the spade contract one trick. At the last table the weak two bid really exploded in East's face.

In spite of his bad distribution Ivan Erdos, sitting North, chose to reopen with a takeout double. Kelsey Petterson, sitting South, bid three diamonds and West doubled.

We now quote from the official book of the match: "Petterson played the hand double dummy to make four. He won the spade lead with his king and led a club to dummy's king. He led a heart from dummy, winning Jordan's queen with the ace. A diamond was led and West's nine was covered by dummy's ten. A club return killed communications for the defense and Petterson was eventually able to ruff a heart in dummy to score 10 tricks."

It is worthy of note that no North player opened his hand in second seat. The hand holds 11 high card points in the form of two aces and a king and in addition there are three tenspots. It is not a "book" opening bid but experts don't always go by the book. What does worry them is their experience that hands with 4-3-3-3 distribution don't produce as well as hands with any shape at all.

Proposes Federal Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., proposes that the federal government provide $30 million to help pay the cost of staffing community mental retardation facilities.

Under terms of a bill introduced in Congress Wednesday, Javits also suggested that federal funds pay for the cost of acquiring construction sites for the centers.

Congress last year approved a similar program for mental health centers.

Magazine Stamps Approval on Only 35 Video Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Billy Rose, if memory serves, who in pretelevision days remarked that everybody had two businesses — his own and show business.

When an important segment of show business moved into the nation's living rooms, everybody with access to a set became, one way or another, a critic.

Now even the respected publication, Parents Magazine, has gotten into the act. In the current issue, it presents a listing of programs, drawn up by the "evaluation committee" of the National Association for Better Radio and Television, which are recommended for children and another of shows it considered objectionable for children, and even a list of shows of "special interest for adult audiences."

A total of 35 shows — about one-third of the evening network output—is given the magazine's stamp of approval. They range from the obvious, like "Captain Kangaroo" and the Walt Disney Hour to some surprising choices, like "Combat" and "12 O'Clock High" but not for younger children and "The FBI" but only for those in their teens.

More interesting is the list of 30 shows the committee found objectionable for children. It includes many shows most adults fondly believed were primarily designed for young audiences; "Flipper" — "story themes abound in crime and involve youngsters in extremely dangerous situations. "The Addams Family" and "The Munsters" and "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." — "frightening in its vivid depiction of horror devices and situation."

The article also had some harsh things to say about "Daniel Boone" — "sometimes uses vicious sadistic scenes" and even "Bonanza — "too violent for youngsters."

"This Proud Land," ABC's series of specials designed to introduce viewers to the beauties and local color of all parts of the nation, hopped, skipped and jumped all over the Southwest — "the sun country" — Wednesday night.

This third show of the series is no more satisfying than the first two, primarily because it lacks a point of view and sort of wanders aimlessly around.

He finally received it Wednesday — 16 years later.

Postal officials were puzzled not only about the delay, but also that the card was postmarked in Batavia when it was mailed in Greece.

Ulster Library Sets Open House, Lists New Books

On Sunday, Jan. 30, the Town of Ulster Library will hold an open house in its new building on Morton Boulevard off Albany Avenue Extension from 2 to 4 p. m. Ceremonies will begin at 2:15.

Invitations have been issued prominent people as well as area residents, and all townspeople interested in the library may attend the festivities. A short program is planned with singing by the ladies of the Kingston Women's Barbershop Chorus an additional attraction.

It is hoped many of the donors to the building fund will attend and see for themselves the facilities they have contributed to. The first library to open its doors in the area in 50 years, this building and contents are the result of foresightedness of a small group of townspeople who in 1960 thought something should be done about establishing a library in this actively growing community.

Recently, Mrs. Marie Gorseline was appointed a trustee to fill the unexpired term of John McEntee who resigned due to pressures of business. Other board members are Edward Crosby, president; Robert Ohlson, treasurer; Mrs. Michael Maxson, secretary; Mrs. Edmond Frawley, Bruce Burgher, Ted Musialkiewcz, Mrs. Gerald Woodvine, William H. Williams, Mrs. Robert Bondar, Nick Valenzano, and Mrs. O. L. Sande.

Sentence Stock Promoter Held In Oil Swindle

NEW YORK (AP) — A Pennsylvanian who the government said set up dummy corporations, sold stock in them to the public and pocketed a half-million dollars has been sentenced to prison with two associates.

A three-year sentence and a $6,000 fine for conspiracy were imposed Tuesday on oil and gas promoter John A. McGuire, 49, of Rendovo, Pa., by Federal Judge Inzer B. Wyatt.

Imposed Sentences

Wyatt also imposed terms of two years on Edmund G. Blumner, 54, an attorney from Scarsdale, N.Y., and one year on Herbert Perry, 55, of Engelwood Cliffs, N.J., a former professional football player, for their part in the scheme.

The three were convicted last Dec. 9 after a non-jury trial before Judge Wyatt.

McGuire's attorney told the court before sentencing that the gas and oil business is "highly speculative." Wyatt responded: "It may be a highly speculative business, but that does not mean that the dice should be loaded against the public."

The government contended during the trial that McGuire devised a scheme to set up a number of dummy oil and gas corporations. He sold stock in them to the public through fraudulently obtained exemptions from registration under the Securities Act, then siphoned off $500,000 for his own use, the government said.

McGuire, Blumner and Perry are free in bail pending appeal.

Blumner resides at 4 Harvest Ave.

Perry lives at 40 Cambridge Place.

McGuire's address is 530 Ontario Ave.

St. Mary's Plans New Show Journal

In conjunction with its St. Patrick's Night Show, slated Saturday, March 12, united societies of St. Mary's Church is sponsoring a journal again this year. Both the show and the journal are for the benefit of St. Mary's School.

The committee in charge has decided to use the format of past journals which have proved highly successful. Listings are now available through contributions, and copies of the journal will be mailed to all those participating after the affair is held.

Those wishing to be listed may contact the Holy Name Society, Church of St. Mary of the Snow, Post Street, Saugerties. Deadline date is Feb. 12.

AT SONS-DAUGHTERS FETE—Saugerties Rotary Club held a highly successful event Tuesday evening when members entertained their sons and daughters and the children of neighbors. Arrangements for the program were made by program chairman Ben Rinaldi. Among those attending were (l-r) Ralph Lachmann, president of Saugerties Rotary; Terry Staples, club member from Malden-on-Hudson, who is hosting the Rotary exchange student for a three months period; and personable Carlos Loret de Mola, visiting student from Lima, Peru, who is attending Saugerties High School until the end of March.

Demos Push Reapport Fight; Chide Williams for Failure

Saugerties Democratic Club is joining in the fight to push for rapid reapportionment locally. At a regular meeting last week, the club adopted a resolution supporting the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States on the question of equal representation in voting and approval of the one-man, one-vote principle.

Local Democrats point out that the Town of Saugerties, with some 15,000 people, is the largest town in Ulster County. They deplore the fact that the town is represented on the County Board of Supervisors with only one supervisor, in spite of the fact that the county's smallest town, with a population of approximately 250 persons, is likewise represented by one supervisor.

The resolution adopted by the club says this unequal representation is not in the interests of all of the people of Saugerties and is similarly unfair to many of the other towns in the county.

Although Town of Saugerties Supervisor Peter Williams has often made newspaper headlines with his proclamations that Saugerties is often ignored in plans for the county as a whole (the Ulster County Community College was one such instance), the Democratic Club accuses him of dragging his feet on reapportionment. Says their resolution: "The Supervisor of the Town of Saugerties has failed to submit any plans for reapportionment or take any other steps to comply with the ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States."

Members of the local political club call upon Williams to take any and all steps necessary, as a representative of the Town of Saugerties on the Board of Supervisors, to induce and persuade the board to adopt necessary legislation. They see this as the only way to bring about an equitable reapportionment plan for equal representation.

The club resolution also requests the Democratic Town Committee of Saugerties to work for local reapportionment, and to do everything in its power to expedite the implementation of the Supreme Court ruling.

Copies of the resolution have been forwarded to Supervisor Williams, chairman of the Board of Supervisors on Reapportionment, Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and State Senator Lloyd A. Newcombe.

Last week Republican Club of Saugerties appointed a special committee to investigate the feasibility of joining in the county reapportionment lawsuit as a way of guaranteeing that Saugerties receives equitable relief by way of increased representation on the Board of Supervisors. So far, the club has taken no specific action on the matter.

Widow of Vet, 36, Says Older Men Needed to Teach

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (AP) — It's not enough to send only young men to fight a war; someone older has to show them how, says a mother of eight children about the death of her husband in Viet Nam.

Mrs. Edward J. Cox, 36, said today she felt no bitterness that her husband was fighting in Asia although he had less than a year to go before retirement.

He Was Older One

"It was his duty. He was one of the older ones. It's not enough to send the young soldiers. They have to have the older ones to show them how."

Staff Sgt. Cox, 35, was a platoon sergeant with the 327th Infantry Regiment, 101st Airborne Division and had been in Viet Nam eight months. A sniper's bullet killed him Monday. His family learned about it Tuesday, "just a little while after the children had taken a letter to him to the mailbox."

"We had a letter from him Tuesday, too," said Mrs. Cox. He was "looking forward to coming home. He said he had less than 100 days to go, and talked about what he'd do when he got home."

Now alone with her children, six sons and two daughters, aged 5 to 15, Mrs. Cox said she will remain here rather than return to her native Germany, where she met and married her GI husband 15 years ago.

Real Home

"We're going to stay here. This is our first real home, and we had so many plans for it."

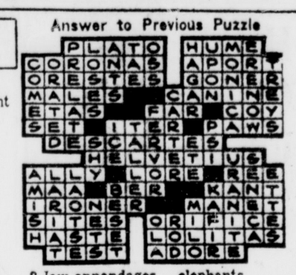

Although her husband was a career soldier, Mrs. Cox said she never thought of death. "After he had been over there so long, I never thought he wouldn't come home." She said only the two oldest children "seem to realize he won't be coming home."

Mrs. Cox said "looking after eight children doesn't give you much time to think about it. If I didn't have the children, I don't know what I'd do."

Cox, 35, was a native of Jeannette, Pa., and left high school to join the Army in 1949. The couple was married in Heidelberg, Germany, when he was stationed there.

Supreme Court Wrestles With Right to Vote Rift

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress could have saved the Supreme Court a lot of trouble last year.

But it chose to pass the buck instead, and so the nine justices are wrestling with a problem as old as this country: Is the right to vote fundamental or does it spring from the states?

To the Justice Department "the franchise is a fundamental right implicit in the First Amendment's guarantees of political expression and in other provisions of the Constitution as well."

To the state of Virginia "it is a state-created right" and one of the few "vestigal rights" of the state in an era of increasing federal power.

These historical arguments go to the heart of the justices' current problem — passing on the constitutionality of the Virginia poll tax.

Their decision may, for all practical purposes, finally put the old arguments to rest.

If the court rules that the state may not tie a head tax in with voting, much of the emotion will have been squeezed out of the arguments.

But the court can reach a narrower decision — or toss the problem back into the laps of lower courts.

When Congress wrote the voting rights law last year it had a lot to say about poll taxes.

According to section 10: They impose unreasonable financial hardships upon poor people; they do not bear a reasonable relationship to conduct of elections; in some areas they deny the right to vote because of race.

Further, Congress directed the attorney general to go to court to test state laws which make payment of a poll tax a precondition to voting.

But Congress did not outlaw the poll tax as a qualification for voting in state elections — as the 24th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution did in 1964 for federal elections.

And so the poll tax as a voting qualification remains on the books in Virginia, Alabama, Texas, Mississippi and Vermont.

Because it does, U.S. Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall told the Supreme Court this week, thousands of newly registered Negroes in Mississippi and Alabama who did not pay their poll tax still won't be able to vote.

The poll tax, he said, is "the one weapon remaining" to bar them.

But is the poll tax aimed at Negroes or at any group of people? George D. Gibson, a learned Richmond attorney, said Virginia's tax is not.

"It does not discriminate against a race anymore than a marriage license or an auto license of fixed amount," he said. "These taxes are neutral on race, creed, color and sex."

Constitutional or not? A weapon of discrimination or a reasonable sort of test to ensure an intelligent electorate? Questions now for the highest court in the land to ponder.

Highlights Of Johnson's Economic Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are some textual highlights from President Johnson's economic report to Congress today:

VIET NAM

The economic cost of Viet Nam imposes no unbearable burden on our resources ... Prosecution for Viet Nam accounts for less than 1½ per cent of our GNP ... Our prosperity does not depend on our military effort.

ECONOMIC POLICY

To attain full employment without inflation ... to use fiscal and monetary policies to help to match total demand to our growing productive potential ... to maintain and enhance healthy competition ... to achieve national purposes as far as possible by enlisting the voluntary cooperation of business, labor and other groups.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

Demand will continue to grow rapidly in 1966 and production will respond ... The vigor of investment spending demonstrates strong business confidence ... The rising defense needs of the federal government are an important new force in the economy ... State and local purchases will keep moving ahead ... Rising consumer incomes will again largely be devoted to expenditures for better living.

COST-PRICE STABILITY

The vigorous economy we foresee in 1966 will tempt labor unions to demand wage increase...and business to raise prices. Labor must remember that growing employment and productivity are the foundation of higher wages, and business that an expanding economy is the basic source of profit gains. These foundations must not be jeopardized.

Hayman Elected Lodge 1562 Head

Ulster County Lodge 1562, International Association of Machinists, elected a new slate of officers at its recent January meeting.

Named to head the organization for 1966 were the following:

William Hayman, president; William Shann, vice president; Ralph Corrigan, recording secretary; Nicholas Turck, financial secretary and treasurer; William Atkins, conductor; Raymond Myers, sentinel.

Trustees elected were: Arthur Brown, Sam Castiglione and Frank Albertini.

Members of the group are all employes of Hucktrol, Grand Street, Kingston.

President Warns Wage, Price Hikes To Hurt Economy

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson warned business and labor today that irresponsible wage-price hikes would jeopardize the nation's strong economy and possibly lead to stiff federal restrictions.

He said in his economic message to Congress that it is "vitally important" that both unions and industry hew to the line of White House guideposts limiting wage raises to 3.2 per cent with no price hikes.

Blasts Labor's Hopes

A blow to labor leaders' hopes in Johnson's message, accompanied by a report of his Council of Economic Advisers, was the failure to boost the guidepost figure to 3.6 per cent in line with latest national production figures.

"I'm sure it has been and will be described as changing the rules in the middle of the game," said council Chairman Gardner Ackley in defending the administration for sticking to the 3.2 per cent figure.

"We don't regard it that way at all," he said at a briefing on the President's economic report.

The guideposts are based on the increase of productivity per man hour, which averaged 3.2 per cent the past five years.

The guideposts state that wages can be raised 3.2 per cent without price increases or larger profit margins for industry.

While conceding that the wage guidepost would be 3.6 per cent if 1965 figures were added and 1960 figures dropped, Ackley said, "We have never been wedded to the five-year rolling average."

He also conceded that previous council reports had used charts based on a moving five-year productivity average, but argued the text of the reports did not state them as a firm policy.

He said productivity gains cannot continue upward indefinitely with industrial production nearing full capacity and that 3.2 per cent was more in line with expected 1966 gains.

Fear Inflation

The administration's action appeared to grow directly out of a fear of adding inflationary pressures if the guidelines were revised upward.

After five years of a boom that Johnson described as an "American economic miracle," both the President and his economic advisers said the major challenge of 1966 was to operate the economy near full blast without inflation.

Eye Pierced by Curtain Rod, Dies in Hospital

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — A 30-year-old man who was found lying on a sidewalk in nearby Frankfort Tuesday night with one eye pierced by a curtain rod died Wednesday at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Utica.

Police said Vincent Scalzo was moving from Ilion to an apartment in Frankfort when he fell while carrying a bundle of curtain rods.

One of the rods entered his eye. Scalzo apparently managed to pull it out before losing consciousness in below-zero weather.

It was not known how long he had been lying on the sidewalk when police found him.

Scalzo, who was married, was a data-processor at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome.

Explain Government, Business Steps To Keep Prosperity at Jaunty Pace

EDITOR'S NOTE — Steps the administration and business are taking to keep prosperity around as a permanent guest are explained in this, third of four articles on the U.S. budget, by Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Both government and business are moving warily into the new economic climate that 1966 promises. It seems sure to be different from the last five years. Adjustments will have to be made by both government and business, and likely by consumers too.

LBJ Unveils Steps

President Johnson in his new federal budget already unveiled and in his economic message due today outlines the steps by which the government proposes to keep prosperity rolling while restraining its exuberance.

The restraints mean taking more money out of paychecks in the months ahead and out of corporate cash tills. The budget also proposes a smaller U.S. Treasury deficit, watering down that form of stimulant. And, more important perhaps, the President warns of more drastic steps of business, labor or the consumer get out of line and head for a speculative binge.

Business and labor are faced with new adjustments to government guidelines on prices and wages. Rising stock prices and heavy trading on the exchanges also focus attention on what the stock market could do to the expanding economy.

Closer Supervision Possible

Ahead also may be closer government supervision of upward changes in prices and wages. And there is the outside possibility that if either business or labor balk, a showdown might bring congressional action turning voluntary guide posts as to how high prices can go, how high wages can go, into fixed rules set by Congress.

Another phase of the new climate in 1966 is the tightening this year of the 1965 controls, called voluntary, on corporate investment overseas and bank loans to foreigners. The aim is keep the dollar sound in international financial dealing — and thus help in preserving its purchasing power at home. This is an important phase of the war against possible inflation — or further loss of the dollar's buying power.

All this may develop before 1966 is over. But stressed this week are the specific moves being made by Washington, or requested of congress, to hold the economy in line without stinting on finances for the Viet Nam war or upsetting prospects of still better times at home.

Some Restraints Working

Restraints already in effect include: Rising interest rates, as initiated early in December by the Federal Reserve Board; higher Social Security tax rates that cut take-home pay for employes and raise labor costs for employers — since both pay more into the Treasury this year. Higher costs of borrowing and less cash in hand are supposed to check a speculative or all-out spending spree.

Asked of Congress, and considered likely to be passed, are: rescinding excise tax cuts on autos and phone fares that took effect Jan. 1, an increase in the airline passenger ticket tax, increased withholding on paychecks in the higher brackets, and earlier payment by corporations of their income taxes.

The President says that all of these would yield the Treasury $1.2 billion more in the fiscal year ending June 30, and $4.8 billion more in the fiscal year starting July 1. It also would remove that much money which individuals and corporations might spend in an economy deemed in danger of overheating.

Sessions Slated For Archdiocese Teachers Feb. 8

The 21st annual teachers institute of the Archdiocese of New York will be held at the Hotel New Yorker, 34th Street and Eighth Avenue on Feb. 8, 9, and 10.

The keynote address for the Feb. 8 session which will be for the secondary school teachers will be given by Dr. Dumont F. Kenny, president of Queensborough Community College of the City University of New York. The topic of the talk will be Perspectives for an Ecumenical Ear. Dr. Kenny is a native New Yorker with a broad experience in education. He is a Fordham University graduate with his doctorate in Philosophy from the University of Chicago.

The closing session Feb. 10 will be addressed by Dr. Harold B. Gores, president of the Educational Facilities Laboratories, Inc. His doctorate in education was awarded by Harvard Universtiy. His experience in education includes time as a teacher in Mathematics, Guidance Director, Principal, Superintendent of Schools.

The institute which will run for three days will have many sessions organized in specific areas of interest from the first to the 12th grade. In this time of development in the field of education, the institute is a major in-service effort.

Opposes 'Stag' Rule

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson doesn't like a "stag government," says his newest female appointee.

She is Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, Manhattan's borough president who was nominated Tuesday as a federal district court judge.

If her nomination is confirmed by the Senate, she will become the first Negro woman to become a federal judge.

Mrs. Motley said the President told her he planned to name more women to important government jobs.

FBI Nabs Two In Connection With Bank Job

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — Two men, accompanied by trained police dogs, were arrested here Wednesday night by FBI agents in connection with the armed robbery of a Mineola, N.Y., savings and loan office last month.

Special agent Roy K. Moore said Joseph Wells, 25, and Robert Vosberg, 23, were nabbed at a motel in this Gulf of Mexico resort.

Moore said two police dogs, one trained to attack on command, were in the pair's company. Agents arrested Wells as he walked out of his room. Vosberg was ordered to come out with his hands up.

Moore said the two were sought in connection with the Dec. 22, 1965 stickup of the Peoples Savings and Loan Office in Mineola. During the stickup, Moore said, one man had a Thompson sub-machine gun and the other had a pistol.

Employes of the office were herded into a backroom and $5,300 was taken. The savings office was hit again on Jan. 13 by a slim, blond gunman, who got $9,600.

Moore said both were held for arraignment before the U.S. commissioner later today.

Wells was charged with bank robbery, while Vosberg was charged with accessory to the fact and violations of the federal firearms act.

Moore said a Thompson submachine gun, a .32 caliber revolver and .22 caliber pistol were found in their room.

A LOOK INTO THE PAST—Prints of oils by Norma D. Whittaker, a teacher in the Kennedy School, here, reproduced from post cards dated 1908 bring back a view of the old canal days in Ulster County when the D & H connected Honesdale, Pa., with Kingston. The scenes were captured for posterity at about the time the canal was ready to close. Boats on the canal carried mostly coal and cement. The above view is that of Lock No. 7 in Lawrenceville near Rosendale. The two buildings (left) are still standing but the one on the right has been replaced by a gasoline station. The scene below is a view from Lock 7 looking towards the Village of Rosendale with St. Peter's School and church steeple in the background.

Earnings from foreign operations, included in the consolidated results, were $144,026,330 in 1965, an increase of $20,027,432 over 1964.

Williams, in their letter to stockholders, described 1965 as a year in which the company conducted "The most intensive engineering, manufacturing and marketing efforts to its history, to launch and expand the IBM System/360. This new product family, spanned the field of data processing, has met with unprecedented demand around the world.

matter of fact

Devil's Tower National Monument in Wyoming has a flat top and fluted sides, making it look like a huge petrified stump, 865 feet high. One Indian legend relates the origin of the tower to the story that seven little girls, chased by bears, sought refuge on a low rock. To save them the gods raised the rock beyond the bears' reach, pushing the little girls into the sky, where they are still visible as stars in the constellation Taurus.

Wilson Submits Bill on Humane Animal Slaughter

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County announced today that he has submitted a bill to the State Legislature which would assure that animals slaughtered in New York State would be kiledl in a humane manner. The local legislator said that he has received many letters from individuals and groups throughout Ulster County urging that such a law be adopted in the State, and citing examples of how many animals are shackled and hoisted into painful positions before being put to death.

Assemblyman Wilson said he has supported similar legislation in the past, but that humane slaughter law has never been adopted by New York State. One objection to many of these proposed measures is that such a law would interfere with certain religious dietary laws, and thereby violate the basic principles of freedom of religion. Wilson said that while he agrees with the concept of humane slaughter, he also agrees that the state should in no way interfere with religious principals and attempt to contravene the dietary laws of any religion, particularly the kosher food practices of the Jewish religion.

The bill which has been introduced this year by Assemblyman Wilson would make it mandatory for all slaughter-houses in New York State to adhere to humane slaughter principals so that all animals would be killed in a painless manner, but would specifically exclude kosher slaughter-houses from all provisions of the new law. Assemblyman Wilson said that he sincerely hopes that this compromise measure will satisfy both the humane and the religious aspects of the problem, and that New York State will finally be abe to adopt a workable humane slaughter law.

Specific Rules Do Apply On Claiming Dependents

EDITOR'S NOTE — It's not only children who may be claimed as dependents in making out your federal income tax — but specific rules apply as to how much money relatives can make and still be listed. This article, the fourth of five, explains the requirements.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Each dependent you can claim on your 1965 income tax return means a $600 exemption off your income. A dependent could be your child, parent, some other relative, or a friend.

A wife is not a dependent. Husband-wife exemptions, explained earlier in this series, vary by age. But exemptions for a dependent, under or over 65, is a flat $600. There is no extra exemption for blindness.

One Test Explained

One test of whether you can claim a person as a dependent is this: Did you contribute more than half his support in 1965? Hereafter, to save space, it will be referred to as the test.

You can claim your child as a dependent if he was born or died in 1965, but not a stillborn child, if you met the test in that part of the year in which the child lived.

You can claim your child, stepchild or adopted child, under or over 19, if he had less than $600 income and you met the test.

If your under-19 child had $600 or more income, he's have to file a return and take his own $600 exemption there, as does everyone with that much income, but if you met the test you could claim him as an exemption on your return without including his income.

But if your child 19 or over had $600 or more income you could not claim him as a dependent, even though you had met the test, unless he was a full-time student.

If he was a full-time student, he's file his own return on his $600 or more income, taking his own exemption, but if you met the support test you could claim him as a dependent without listing his income.

Your child would not be considered a full-time student if he had a regular full-time job and went to night school, or took correspondence courses. If your child won a scholarship, that wouldn't count in deciding whether you had met the support test.

But, in the case of a married child who filed a joint return with his or her spouse, you couldn't claim an exemption even though you had met the support test for that child.

Can't Claim Servants

You can't claim a paid servant in your home as a dependent. But you could claim a friend or foster parent if he lived in your home a full year, got more than half his support from you, and lid not have as much as $600 income of his own.

You can also claim the following relatives as dependents if you met the support test and they did not have $600 or more taxable income:

Your grandchild, great-grandchild, and so on; brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister; parent, grandparent, great-grandparent or other direct ancestor; stepmother or step-father; aunt or uncle, meaning a brother or sister of your mother or father; niece or nephew, meaning a son or daughter of your brother or sister; father-in-law, mother-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, brotherin-law, or sister-in-law.

Neither death nor divorce ends any of the above relationships. Example: if you meet the support test you can continue to claim your father-in-law as a dependent even though your wife is dead or divorced.

Suppose one of the relatives listed above had, say, $700 in nontaxable income, like Social Security payments. Could you claim him as a dependent? Yes, if you met the support test.

There'd be no question if that dependent banked the nontaxable income and didn't use it to live on. If he spent some or all of it to help support himself, you'd have to decide whether your help was more than half his support.

Remember: If such a relative had taxable income of $600 or more, he'd have to file his own return and you couldn't claim him as a dependent, even though you had met the support test.

If a dependent died in 1965 but you paid more than half his support during the part of the year in which he lived, you could claim him as a dependent and take a $600 exemption for him, provided he did not have $600 or more taxable income of his own.

Next: Deductible expenses.

Ex-Policemen Get 7-10 Year Terms

HERKIMER, N.Y. (AP) — Two former Utica policemen will serve prison sentences of 7-10 years on charges of second-degree robbery in three cases.

Anthony J. Leo 33, and James E. Callahan, 30, both of Utica, pleaded guilty Wednesday and drew those terms from Judge Edmund A. McCarthy.

The sentences will run concurrently.

Leo and Callaghan first appeared in Oneida County Court in a $5,631 payroll robbery in Utica last August.

Later Wednesday, they appeared in Herkimer County Court—again before Judge McCarthy—in the robbery of two persons in Little Falls in 1964.

Leo was a 12-year veteran of the force and Callahan had served about two years.

Cases against two other Utica policemen accused in the payroll robbery are pending.

Wagner Denies Run Out; 'No One Asked for Help'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner, back home after a 26-day vacation in Mexico, denies charges by some critics that he had "run out" of town just before the New Year's Eve transit strike deadline.

Wagner says he "was always available to give any assistance I could" in the transit union negotiations but he was not called upon.

The ex-mayor and his wife were deeply tanned as they arrived arrived by plane Wednesday.

They flew out of the city at 9 a.m. on Dec. 31 — 15 hours before the mayoralty was assumed by Republican John V. Lindsay after 12 years of Wagner's Democratic administration.

Wagner's third term expired at midnight — the same time that the AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union's two-year contract with the Transit Authority expired.

The union struck the municipal subway and bus lines at 5 a.m. New Year's Day — five hours after Lindsay took office. The strike lasted 12 days.

Surprised by Strike

Wagner, answering newsmen's questions as he returned to the city, said he was "surprised" that there was a transit strike. Asked why, he replied: "Because we never had one before."

Wagner denied a charge that he had participated in "back door" negotiations with Michael J. Quill, president of the transit union, in previous years. "I never had any private arrangements with Mr. Quill," he said. "Everything was always out in the open."

The former mayor declined to comment on Lindsay's performance and appointments as mayor. "After I get a chance to catch up on all the details, I'll be happy to comment on anything in a few days," he said.

He said his only immediate plans were to go to his law office in the morning "and take care of some business there."

As for politics, he said his only plan is to take "an interest in my party and my city."

Asked if he would be a candidate for governor this year, Wagner said: "I have no such plans." Then he asked: "How long is the list of candidates since I left?"

Erie-Lackawanna Get OK for New Cars

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Public Service Commission authorized the Erie - Lackawanna Railroad today to buy 160 new box cars on a time - payment basis.

The railroad will buy the cars from the Greenville Steel Car Company and pay the $3,047,050 purchase price in equal, semi-annual installments over a 10-year period.

Delivery of the cars is to begin in March and be completed by the end of May.

In action Wednesday, the PSC turned down an attempt by the New York Central Railroad to combine two westbound passenger trains in an economy move.

The commission directed the railroad to continue the two trains—the "Cayuga" and the "Ohio State Limited"—on their present schedules between New York City and Buffalo.

The railroad announced the proposal last September, but the PSC said westbound passenger service was "barely sufficient at present."

Study Cold Spring's Pollution of Hudson

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Health Department was studying today a challenge to its charges that the Southeastern New York village of Cold Spring is pouring sewage into the Hudson River.

Earl W. Murray, department hearing officer, said Wednesday that, at the conclusion of the study, he would submit recommendations to Dr. Hollis Ingraham, health commissioner.

The village's attorney, C. Edward Doyle, told the hearing that Cold Spring already had spent $60,000 for sewage-treatment plans. He contended that the evidence of pollution was insufficient.

Doyle added that the estimated $700,000 cost of the project was too expensive for the community.

Readying Operation Spudnik

Potato May Unlock Door To Biological Mystery

DETROIT (AP) — A common potato that sells for pennies a pound is going to be carried into space soon by a multimillion-dollar rocket to search for what scientists hope will be a key to a biological mystery.

Hoping to discover that key, Space Defense Corp. in suburban Birmingham, Mich., in conjunction with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, plans to orbit the potato within the next two years.

The high-flying potato project has been christened "Spudnik."

Possibilities Enormous

Bruce Pinc, a biologist with Space Defense Corp., says "the possibilities of this thing are enormous. If Spudnik accomplishes what we expect, its potential in the study of the entire area of biological science is staggering."

Spudnik is designed to probe what Pinc calls the "riddle of biorythmicity, one of the five most important questions in biological science."

Pinc said biorythmicity describes the tendency of living organisms to become active at regular, predictable intervals.

"It's all very well to say sudden spurts of growth in adolescents are due to an increased presence of the growth hormone," said Pinc. "What we want to know is what stimulates the gland which produces the hormone and why the stimulation occurs."

Pinc said one school of thought contends clock-like mechanisms inside the cell control activity and that no outside forces influence stimulation of cells.

Another view says outside forces such as the sun, moon and gravity dictate variations in organic activity. The greatest problem in attempting to prove the theory has been the near impossibility of eliminating such outside forces in experimentation.

Results Back Theory

"By taking advantage of space we get away from the exertion of all earth-bound forces," Pinc said. "We have a virtually empty environment, and if standard biorythmicity occurs we can be relatively sure the cause is inside the cell."

But why a potato?

Pinc says, "What's more simple than a potato? It is one of the most homogeneous masses existent."

Pinc and Dan Foster, another scientist, says results of their tests so far tend to back up the theory of outside influence on cellular activity. But they're not drawing any conclusions yet.

Early Recess

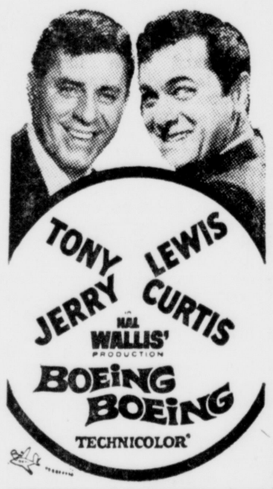

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—For 8-year - old Stephen Harrison, going out in zero weather was a reward.

While most people shivered Wednesday, the third - grader gloated at the fact that he was sent out early for recess from the village school in suburban Colonie because he had not participated in classroom disorder.

STUDY PROJECTION—Newly elected officials of First Federal Savings and Loan Association, 235 Fair Street, study anticipated growth chart at the main banking office. Elects Top Officers

Savings, Loan Group Announces Major Changes

Three major changes in its organizational makeup were announced today by the board of directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association at its main office, 235 Fair Street.

John B. Sterley, formerly president, has been elevated to the post of chairman of the board, and counsel. Deweese W. DeWitt has been promoted to the position of president.

Name Executive

The executive vice president's position, formerly held by DeWitt, has been filled by the election of Alexander J. McKittrick.

McKitterick is currently serving as branch manager of the Hyde Park Office of First Federal, a post he has held since he joined the association in July 1961.

In his new position, McKittrick will be responsible for the day-to-day operations of the association.

DeWitt will be devoting much of his time to long range planning and evaluation of programs.

Served 38 Years

Chairman Sterley, former Surrogate of Ulster County, is continuing his long tenure of service. 38 years, with the institution, which has grown from one and on-half millions in assets to twenty-nine and one half millions today.

Other elections held Tuesday were: Vice chairman of the Board of Directors, Harry Halverson; Second Vice chairman, George C. Swart Assistant Vice Presidents, William F. Paulus and Sam D. Bradley; Secretary and Associate Counsel, Robert A. MacKinron, William D. Costello; Auditor and Administrative Assistant, Rosalind B. Wilber.

The three offices of First Federal Savings and Loan are located at 235 Fair Street and 628 Broadway in Kingston and the Park Shopping Plaza in Hyde Park.

It is felt by the board of directors that Judge Sterley's long experience in banking will be a major asset in guiding the institution's growth in his new capacity of chairman of the board.

Named President

Sterley was first elected to the board in October 1927. He was appointed assistant counsel and then counsel to the association. Subsequently he was elected vice president and later to president on Jan. 21. 1957.

At the annual meeting, Sterley said the responsibility of being counsel of the association was taking most of his time, leaving insufficient time to devote to the great responsibility and duties of president.

DeWitt, a native of Newfane, Vt., came to Kingston in 1949 as executive officer of the then Home-Seekers Savings and Loan Association. He had been managing officer of Walton Savings & Loan prior to assuming the local post.

The new bank president has served on committees of the United States Savings and Loan League and as a director and vice president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York. A former president of the New York State League of Savings and Loan Associations, he has served as instructor in local savings and loan institute sessions.

Active in Community

Active in civic projects, DeWitt has served as chairman of the Ulster County Heart Chapter and of the Kingston YWCA board.

He has been executive vice president of First Federal since Jan. 21, 1957.

McKittrick, the new vice president joined the staff of the loan in July 1961. As manager of the Hyde Park Branch he resides on 7 Linden Lane there with his wife, Margaret F. and three children, Nancy E. 14; Sharon L. 13, and Brian A. 9.

McKittrick was with the Investors Savings and Loan Association of Millburn, N. J., for 10 years, before his association with the local firm. He is a graduate of Lafayette College, has a graduate diploma from the American Savings and Loan Institute, and completed two years of graduate school of the American Savings and Loan Institute at Indiana University.

Active in Hyde Park

The new executive is an associate member of the Dutchess County Board of Realtors, a member and director of the Homebuilders Association of the Hudson Valley, and has served as chairman of the Industrial Committee of the Town of Hyde Park.

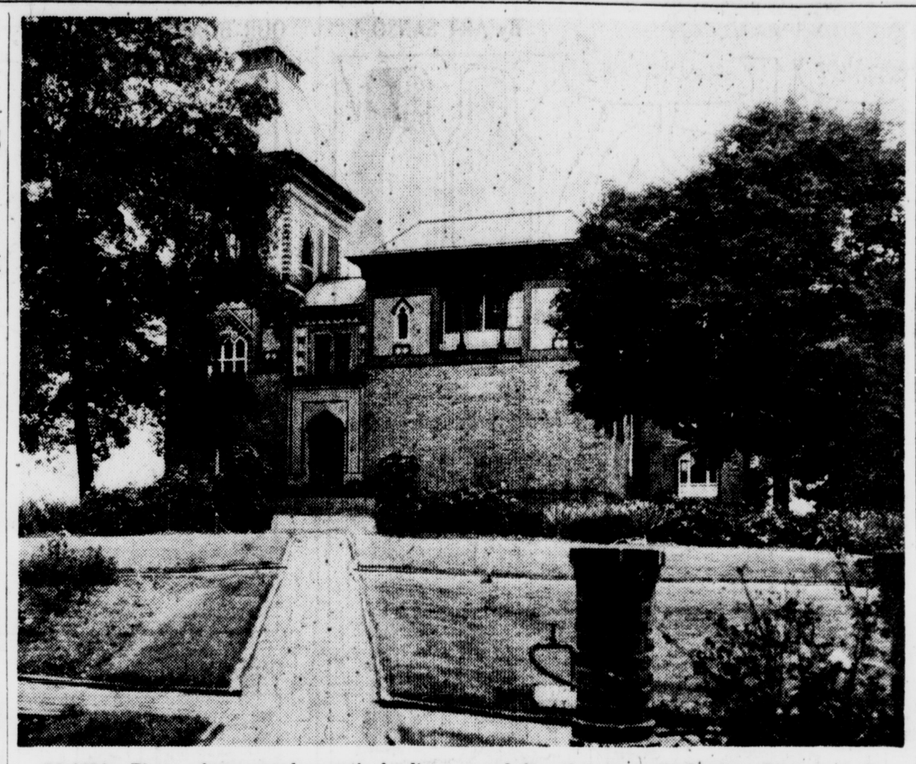

He has acted as treasurer of the Hyde Park Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association and is a member of the finance commission, Hyde Park Methodist Church, the American Savings and Loan Institute and the Red Hook Golf Club.

Also on the board of directors are George Tamke, Wilmer Nickerson, Clair Sheaffer, George Svirsky, and Joseph J. Kelly.

Civil Service Exam

The U.S. Civil Service Commission this week announced new examinations as follows: Seasonal Assistant (paying $2.37 an hour) for temporary employment during the summer of 1966 in a limited number of post offices throughout the country. A written test is required. Applications must be received or postmarked by Feb. 24. Equipment Specialist (paying $7,479 to $10,619) for jobs in Army installations in the U.S. and overseas. Equipment Specialists perform technical duties in connection with the production, use, and disposal of aircraft, machinery (electrical and non-electrical), electronics, automotive, and missile maintenance equipment. There is no written test and no closing date. Resident in hospital administration (paying $4,220 to $6,925 a year) for work in selected Veterans Administration hospitals in collaboration with affiliated universities which offer graduate programs in hospital administration. No written test is required. Applications may be sent to the Central Board of Examiners (135D22) at the Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C. 20420. Plan Fund-Raising Tea This Weekend at Estate

HUDSON — Author August Heckscher and Yale Professor Vincent Scully will be guest speakers during a fund-raising tea Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 29 and 30, at Olana.

Olana is the estate of the late Frederic E. Church, famed 19th century artist of the Hudson River School. Located on Mt. Merino at Hudson, the estate is considered a prime example of 19th century opulent Americana. The 25 room home built in the early 1870's houses many of the works of the famous Hudson River artist, as well as Church's collection of art from all over the world.

Was Scheduled for Block

Perfectly kept and preserved, the etire estate was scheduled to be auctioned last spring. It was withdrawn from the auction block by a concerted effort to persuade the estate trustees that the public would care enough about Olana to find a way to keep it. Olana Preservation, Inc., was formed as a nonprofit organization to procure the nearly half million dollars necessary to pay for the property and to make it a permanent museum.

Hecksher, who will speak Saturday, is a prominent author and lecturer. He was educated at St. Paul's School, Yale and Harvard. He was appointed by the late President John F. Kennedy, a special White House consultant on the arts and director of the 20th Century Fund, a philanthropic foundation devoted to economic and social research and education.

Active in many fields, he has been a member of the government department at Yale, editor of the Auburn, N. Y. Citizen-Advertiser and chief editorial writer of the N. Y. Herald Tribune. His books include a 'Patter For Politics', 'The Politics of Woodrow Wilson' and 'A Diversity of Worlds' written with Raymond Aron.

Prof. Scully, scheduled for a talk on Sunday, is a well-known authority on architecture of the 19th and 20th Century as well as Greek architecture. Professor of art history at Yale University, he is a well known lecturer, and author of numerous books and articles. Professor Scully has given generously of his time, to the effort to preserve Olana, and his lectures have pointed up the significance of Olana, and why we must and should preserve this magnificent example of Mid-Victorian architecture and art.

The tea which is to be held from 2 to 6 p. m. is headed by Mrs. Fred Mazzacano of Hudson.

Interested Folk Invited

Mrs. Mazzacano, on behalf of Alexander Aldrich, president of Olana Preservation, Inc., and Mrs. Aldrich who heads the Women's Group to save Olana, urged everyone who is interested in preserving this magnificant example of late 19th century Americana to attend the tea.

"You must see and visit Olana to entirely realize this great heritage that has been left to the people of the Hudson Valley as well as our country itself," said Mrs. Mazzacano. She took the liberty of quoting a statement made by Mrs. Aldrich recently which she felt expressed her feelings abou Olana as well. Mrs. Aldrich said "Sometimes it is hard to realize the significance of something which is so close to you in time, but Olana is timeless and this we have learned from the enthusiasm that the art world and the academic world have expressed when they have seen Olana."

Hostesses for the tea will be: Mrs. Benjamin Funk, Mrs. John Gab, Mrs. Joseph Gold, Mrs. Neal Curran, Mrs. Gus Kramer, Mrs. Charles VanDuser, Mrs. Theodore Klein and Mrs. Arthur Brooks.

Jesuits Propose Priests Train With Peace Corps

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Jesuit missionaries of the Roman Catholic Church are considering a proposal that they train to work in underdeveloped nations as members of the U.S. Peace Corps.

That possibility was discussed Wednesday at the second of a four-day series of conferences at LeMoyne College here among the mission superiors of the Society of Jesus.

No details were available, but it was learned that Jesuit headquarters in New York City has contacted Peace Corps officials to discuss the proposal.

Officials said they thought it would be beneifical for a young priest to enter the Peace Corps for the two-year enlistment as part of his missionary training.

The international conference, the first in the history of the 425-year-old order, was called to examine the role of Jesuit missions in light of the recently concluded Ecumenical Council in Rome.

About 80 leaders of the church's largest order were present, including two Vatican representatives of Father General Pedro Arrupe.

Canvass Schools On Aid Proposals

ALBANY — A statewide canvass of school officials to determine the effects of new school aid proposals was launched today by a Republican Assembly subcommittee.

The committee, appointed yesterday by Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr., is studying school aid formula revisions for school districts which are not substantially helped by the proposed $600-to-$660 increase in aid per pupil now under consideration by the Legislature.

All Republican Assemblymen were asked today to check with local school officials to ascertain what effects of the increase to $660 would be in individual districts as well as their general views on state aid to education. "On the basis of these reports," committee chairman Daniel Becker of Newburgh said, "proposals will be made and announced in the very near future."

Also on the committee are Assemblymen Charles D. Henderson of Hornell, Verner M. Ingram of Potsdam, Joseph C. Finley of Walworth, V. Sumner Carroll of Niagara Falls and Charles E. Hogg of Buffalo.

Automatic Data Votes 3-2 Stock Split

CLIFTON, N. J., Jan. 25 — Automatic Data Processing, Inc., a computer service firm, today voted a 3-for-2 split of its common stock and reported record sales and earnings for the six-month period ended Dec. 31, 1965.

Henry Taub, president, said no stockholder approval is needed for the split which will give the company 644,963 shares of common stock outstanding. Holders of record Feb. 4, 1966 will receive on Feb. 25, 1966 one new share for every two they hold.

Taub told directors sales and earnings set new records for the six months ended Dec. 31. Sales increased 76 per cent to $2,008,771 from $1,143,442 a year earlier and net earnings after taxes climbed to $338,918, a gain of 156 per cent over $89,393 for the first six months last year.

Per share earnings rose to 53 cents for the six months compared to 22 cents last year, Taub said. The number of shares outstanding at the end of the period rose to 429,975 from 407,000.

Bipartisan Group May Study Redistricting

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A newly created bipartisan legislative council could end up tackling the major issue of conflicting Republican and Democratic redistricting plans.

The new unit was created Wednesday to settle all disagreements between the two houses, under different control for the first time in 30 years.

Republicans, who control the Senate, and Democrats, who hold the Assembly have drafted different reapportionment plans. The Legislature is under a court order to decide on one by Feb. 15. No compromise is in sight.

Nevertheless, Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia said, when an impasse is reached, no one "is going to be so bull-headed we won't talk to each other."

Other council members include Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges of the Senate.

Demos Ask Why Ricks Project Was So Hastily Accomplished

"Fact finding and community enlightment are the purposes of this meeting—not the spreading of rumor nor the venting of emotions." The speaker was Peter Grad, Democratic Club president, and he was addressing the January meeting of the group.

Grad's statement, nevertheless, touched off a free-for-all discussion on three current and controversial items, including: recent Town Board proceedings, the real story behind Ricks Road, and the future of the Woodstock Art Colony.

A large audience heard open discussion by club members on these subjects, but it was the Ricks Road fracas which drew most of the comment. Grad presented what he called "the few facts" made available to the public concerning this new road. He pointed out that ex-supervisor Abram Molyneaux, at an unannounced meeting of the Town Board in October, had first revealed that the road, connecting Route 212 at Bearsville with the Glasco Turnpike, would be built before he left office at the end of December.

Friction developed shortly between Aileen Cramer, property owner on Ricks Road, and Simon Feinstein, Glasco Turnpike resident. Miss Cramer, attempting to trace the chronological history of Ricks Road during her lifetime residency here, was repeatedly and heatedly interrupted by Feinstein, as was moderator Grad. Feinstein argued that the whole project was one designed to serve only the private interests of a few landowners along the road; suggested it opened up a fertile area to housing developers. He said the rights, as well as the peace and quiet, of other nearby residents, such as himself, were completely ignored by the Town Board. Feinstein, who had circulated a petition against the road last fall, accused Molyneaux of advising him to utilize the list of signatures in the bathroom of his home.

Grad noted that competent legal counsel had advised local Democrats that the board had violated two sections of the Town Highway Law of the State in building the road. The records do not show, he said, that the town highway superintendent requested the necessary survey required by the county highway superintendent, or that the latter made such a survey. No written report or order by the county man appears to have been filed on such a suvey with the local town clerk. In addition, no documents have been unearthed on the acceptance of lands for highway purposes by the town from residents along Ricks Road who gave them to the town as dedications of land.

Although the relocation and extension of Ricks Road is now a fait accompli, local Democrats evidently feel that they are not "whipping a dead horse"; still want to know why the road was hastily pushed through and if all legal requirements were met. They point out cost of construction has not been revealed, and names of contractors who did the work have received no publicity. If competitive bids were needed, they say, no advertisements ever appeared for these.

Frightening Apathy

The club's acting secretary, Mary Rathgeber, addressed the group on the second topic of the night, Town Board procedure. She pinpointed the "frightening" apathy which prevails on the part of private citizens here, who fail to attend board meetings year in and year out. Their interest is vital, she said, if Woodstock wants to keep pace with the times.

Singling out a recent example when thousands of dollars were transferred from the surplus fund to the general fund at the end of the fiscal year, Mrs. Rathgeber wondered if this had been done so the monies could be spent hurriedly. She fails to understand why the board does not work for tax rate reductions instead of spending money for the sake of not having surpluses at the year's end. Commenting on the recent changes in town board procedure which sees members following a strict agenda and allows citizens only limited opportunities to speak, she argued that the supervisor need recognize no one, if he so desires.

Feeling ran high during the discussion that current board procedure should be modified, and one participant handed former supervisor Molyneaux a left-handed compliment. Molyneaux, unlike new supervisor William West Jr., recognized anyone, he said, whether remarks were "extraneous at best or insulting at worst."

Art Colony Discussed

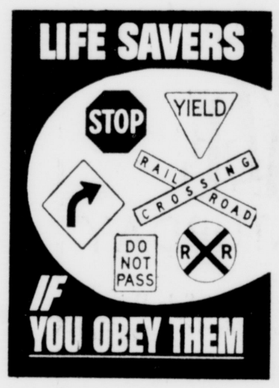

Peter Rakov led the discussion on the Future of the Woodstock Art Colony. The former Democratic councilman candidate has been working with a group concerned with the cultural future of Woodstock, and hopeful of obtaining, federal, state, private foundation and local funds for an art colony project here similar to that which flourished several decades ago.

Said Rakov, "Woodstock has a precious resource—the talent of its inhabitants and visitors. Like any resource, this talent must be nurtured and enlarged if it is to grow."

The club lends its support to any arts council which will ultimately be working toward these ends locally.

During a brief business session, Dwight Harris, John Bonilla and Rakov were appointed to serve as chairmen of the following standing committees respectively: program and campaign, membership relations and publicity.

Before adjournment, Miss Florence Hubbard delivered an eloquent eulogy for Mrs. Nancy Schoonmaker. Mrs. Schoonmaker, life-long Democrat and Woodstock resident for many years, was a world-renowned authority on international matters, as well as a leader in the women's suffrage movement throughout the world prior to her recent death.

Six Young People Will Participate In Youth Sunday

Six young adults will participate in the worship service of Christ's Ltuheran Church, Woodstock, Sunday at 11:15 a. m. as the congregation observes Youth Sunday.

The purpose of his emphasis is to awaken both youth and adults of the congregation to the need for youth ministry — adults to youth—youth to youth—youth to adults. Chris Breitenbach and Ken Peterson will deliver a two part sermon entitled: What Youth Can Give to the Church—What Youth Expect From the Church. Sue Moseman will be liturgist and Nora Veiberg will read the lessons. A Christian folk song with guitar accompaniment will be sung by Nora Veiberg, David Holumzer and Lynda Thaisz will serve as shers.

One church leader has said. "the youth of today are the natives of this world. All of us who are over 25 years of age are immigrants in their culture." It follows those responsible for a ministry to youth today are searching for new forms to make them more aware of God's saving love in Jesus Christ and more eager to declare that love to others through speech and actions. Youth Sunday reflects this quest and the effort to enlist youth in it.

Riding Club Gets Show Date Change; Expansion Possible

The American Horse Shows Association has approved a new date for the annual recognized horse show sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club. This year the show will be held Sunday, June 5. The information was presented to the membership at a recent meeting of the club held in the J. C. vanRijn studio with George M. Hard, president, presiding.

Mrs. William Wilson, horse show chairman, also said that it is very probable two outstanding recognized judges of national fame will be on hand to judge the day's classes. The show will be expanded this year to embrace a possible 37 classes held alternately in the two rings on Ohayo Mountain. All show committees are now working to finalize the prize list, program, and other necessary details for a successful presentation.

If any member can spare even a few hours time to assist with his tremendous undertaking, he or she is requested to call Mrs. Wilson in Woodstock. She will gladly accept any and all assistance.

Offers Area Prestige

So far as is now known, the Woodstock Riding Club is still the only organization in Ulster County to be licensed to present a recognized show which is of great importance to area riders in that points accumulated at this show count toward the national competition. It is also of considerable prestige value to the area.

A new ruling by the AHSA for 1966 shows states that no recognized show will be permitted to run longer than 16 hours in any 24 hour day show. In past years a number of the larger shows have exceeded the limit. Under the new rule disregard for the limit will cost a show a $200 penalty.

Many changes for horse shows were discussed at the 49th convention of the AHSA as reported by Marie LaFranz in the New York Herald Tribune. According to Miss LaFranz, one of the most controversial is the question of revising the jumper division. She says:

"In the past 10 years the horse show sport has grown with fantastic speed. The number of shows and exhibitors has more than doubled in most divisions. The growth in numbers has been matched by the growth of the AHSA rule book, which is now a ponderous and complicated volume. Each year new rules have been included, new divisions added and many changes made. Probably no other division has had as many changes as the jumper.

"Old-timers complain bitterly that the U.S. is leaning more and more towards European styles in horse shows and this is probably largely due to the fact that the U.S. equestrian teams have had to compete under these rules in the Euroepan circuit and the Olympics.

Will Affect Woodstock

"The suggested plan would do away with championshiph and high score awards for jumpers. It would also eliminate the open classifications and instead have A, B and C divisions."

Apparently, the idea is to regulate heights of jumps and prizes for the three divisions. The changes remain in the discussion stage but there is little doubt that some changes will be made in the foreseeable future. Needless to say, this change if made, would also affect the Woodstock club which generally includes a jumper division in its annual prize list.

Other business transacted included the acceptance of resignation presented by Stewart Miller as chairman of the trails committee. The resignation was accepted with regret as Miller has been a valuable asset to this committee. His replacement will be announced.

Mrs. Susie Jurgensen DeLisio was reinstated to membership.

Following the meeting a 30-minute film, in color, was presented to Mrs. Virgil VanWagonen, education committee chairman. The film traced the Apaloosa from the Dawn of History to its many present day uses and was narrated by TV star Dale Robertson. She was assisted by Mr. VanWagonen.

Mrs. William J. McGuire served refreshments.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, Feb. 17, at the J. C. vanRijn studio, Woodstock.

Sees $20 Million 'Fat' in Rocky's Record Budget

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — "There's at least $20 million worth of fat in Gov. Rockefeller's budget," a legislative chairman says, that could be diverted to the City University of New York.

Sen. Manfred Ohrenstein added Wednesday that he thought the state could produce a total of $30 million to help finance the university's teaching programs and expansion plans.

The Manhattan Democrat gave his opinions as the Joint Legislative Committee on Higher Education concluded a two-day hearing here.

He said the state could provide $10 million for the university by eliminating the $100 grant the state provides for each college student under an incentive program.

Rockefeller's $3.98 - billion budget contains a $3.5 - million increase in aid to City University, for a total of $45 million. The city provides $37 million.

Three Centuries Of Architecture Exhibited at UCCC

Three centuries of architecture in New York went on view at Ulster County Community College in Gallery Hall, 3rd floor, Monday and may be seen through February 12, 1966. The public is invited to visit Monday through Friday from 9 to 5.

Twenty panels comprise this photographic exhibition of major examples of architecture dating from the 17th to the 20th century. Dr. Carl K. Hersey of the University of Rochester has chosen from many localities throughout the state for the show being circulated by The American Federation of Arts under the sponsorship of The New York State Council on the Arts.

Dr. Hersey has said, "Architecture is the most monumental and prevalent of the arts. It is also the most useful in its service to human needs. Buildings tell much about the economic, social, and cultural status of people, and in this sense they are visual documents of history. Architecture is also an art and therefore worthy of cultivation as a source of aesthetic pleasure. New York State, because of her wealth and pre-eminent position, is unusually rich in architectural monuments. These reflect the varied European backgorunds of her colonial society, the taste for magnificance in an age of great fortunes, and finally the achievement of a truly modern architecture expressive of the spirit of our own times."

The earliest building represented is a 17th century wooden house in Cutchogue on Long Island which shows the style of early settlers' structures as distant in time as 1649. The stately colonial period is well represented by beautiful Johnson-Hall in Johnstown, named for Sir William Johnston, "famed friend of the Indians and intermediary between them and the British Crown;" and also the Roger Morris house in New York City, better known as the Jumel Mansion for the widow who for a time was Mrs. Aaron Burr. The well-known and much-admired classical mansions of Geneva are represented by lovely Rose Hill, now belonging to Hobart College. Also included is Sunnyside, home of the world-renowned author, Washington Irving, at Tarrytown.

Among distinguished public buildings to be seen are the Albany City Hall, the Guaranty Building in Buffalo and two of the most modern in the state, The Seagram Building and the Guggenheim Museum—both in New York City. An explanatory text accompanies each photograph which allows the visitor to the exhibition to study the material at his leisure. The photographs themselves have been made by some of the most prominent students of architectural history in the state, including Mr. Wayne Andrews whose publications are internationally known.

Many of the buildings included are museums or public buildings and can be ivsited at published hours during the week and on Sundays.

Pharmaceutical Divisions Issue Updated Pharmacy Careers Booklet; Note for Women

A completely revised and updated edition of the recruiting booklet Your Career Opportunities in Pharmacy, was published today by Pfizer's two pharmaceutical marketing divisions.

In a joint foreword to the booklet, four pharmacy leaders cite a "critical" need for more pharmacists as the trend in this country moves toward more health services. The leaders are: William S. Apple, Ph.D., executive director, American Pharmaceutical Association; James H. Merritt, executive vice president, National Association of Chain Drug Stores, Inc.; Joseph A. Oddis, executive secretary, American Society of Hospital Pharmacists, and Willard B. Simmons, executive secretary, National Association of Retail Druggists.

They recommend to the youthful readers: "Compare the many advantages that pharmacy offers with any other career that interests you. The need for qualified young men and women in pharmacy is critical and it is great. This could be the most important decision that you will make."

More than 800,000 copies of this popular booklet have been distributed since the first edition was published in 1958. Four additional printings were required to meet the demand from pharmacists and pharmacy organizations, colleges and schools, career and other groups and interested individuals.

The 27-page booklet, available without cost, is designed primarily for high school students and college freshmen and sophomores with a special message for women, who now comprise 8 per cent of the pharmacist population and 12 per cent of the pharmacy college enrollment.

A wide range of career opportunities including those in retail pharmacy, hospital pharmacy, government service, including the Peace Corps; and industry are discussed.

The trend in pharmacy education toward more academic preparation through five and six-year university programs is described with a look at the "two-three," "one-four" and "straight five" year pharmacy curriculums.

Earning prospects for pharmacists are reported to be "good and getting better" by the booklet which examines income expectations from the specific types of pharmacy careers.

An extensive list of colleges of pharmacy with addresses and names of deans or directors is provided along with information about financial assistance. Also included is a listing of additional sources of information for the earnest student interested in pharmacy as a career.

Your Career Opportunities in Pharmacy is one of three publications in the Pfizer health careers library. Other titles in the series are Your Career Opportunities in Medicine and Your Career Opportunities in Hospitals.

The booklets are available free by writing the Educational Services Department, Charles Pfizer & Co., Inc., 235 East 42nd Street, New York, N. Y., 10017.

Woman Conductor for N. Y. Philharmonic; Swiss Is Named Assistant to Bernstein

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody tried to talk Sylvia Caduff out of her dream of conducting symphony orchestras.

A woman looks ungainly on a podium, they told her in her hometown of Chur, Switzerland.

How could she get the men in the orchestra to take her direction, asked friends in Lucerne where she was studying piano. What audience would treat her seriously?

As a clincher they always ended triumphantly: Name just one woman conductor on the staff of a major symphony orchestra.

Now the slim brunette has an answer: Sylvia Caduff, with the New York Philharmonic, an assistant conductor to Leonard Bernstein.

"I'm so happy, so happy," she says, which just about takes care of her working English vocabulary at the moment. She hopes to be proficient, though, by next fall when her stint in New York begins.

Sylvia, 28, was a piano teacher in Lucerne—a fine profession for a woman, everybody thought—until she came to New York early in January for the Dimitri Mitropoulos International Competition.

"I brought my little fur lion along," she said through an interpreter. "I had it with me when I was studying conducting in Berlin at the conservatory and with Herbert von Karajan from 1962-64. I think it brings me luck."

She also carried the baton she had used in reaching the finals in a couple of international conducting competitions in Italy and Denmark. She would rather borrow someone's toothbrush than use another baton.

The Mitropoulos competition started with 34 contestants from 18 countries, including two women—Sylvia and one from Peru.

Only Sylvia and six young young men survived the finals, in Carnegie Hall before a capacity crowd.

After the jury of distinguished conductors made their decisions Jan. 17, Bernstein announced the results. Sylvia was one of the four first-place winners.

Two nights later, after the four conducted the New York Philharmonic in Philharmonic Hall, Bernstein announced their new posts: Three, including Sylvia, would assist him with the Philharmonic next season, the fourth would go to Washington's National Symphony.

Next fall Sylvia should brighten the New York music scene considerably. She rarely uses makeup, and with her 5-foot-4 boyishly slim figure, brown eyes and dark hair cut in a short pageboy, she could be called winsomely cute — a description that would horrify her if she understood it in English.

She is an intense, no-nonsense, talented professional — from the expert way she handles the baton. "You use it as an extension of the arm, in the right hand for tempo; the left hand is for expression", to her demure long black dress, purposefully unobtrusive so as not to distract from the orchestra and music.

While some masculine conductors may stomp, gyrate and flail the air, Sylvia maintains an easy graceful stance.

Although she gets along fine with male colleagues, she's not overly eager to get married right away.

"I'm always in love," she says. But she's not engaged.

Nation's Food Bill Keeps Increasing

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP)— Pork is precious and beef is booming.

So home economists are advising shoppers to choose less popular, cheaper variety cuts such as liver, heart and tongue.

Word from the cattlemen is hardy encouraging.

John H. Guthrie of Porterville, Calif., told the American National Cattlemen's Association convention in Kansas City this week beef was going to be more scarce and more expensive.

He said although 5 per cent more beef was slaughtered last year, it provided 3 per cent less meat because there was less fattening of the animals at feedlots.

Pork prices have touched the highest point in 17 years, and run into consumer resistance. Housewives used chicken instead, then the supply of chickens dwindled and prices rose.

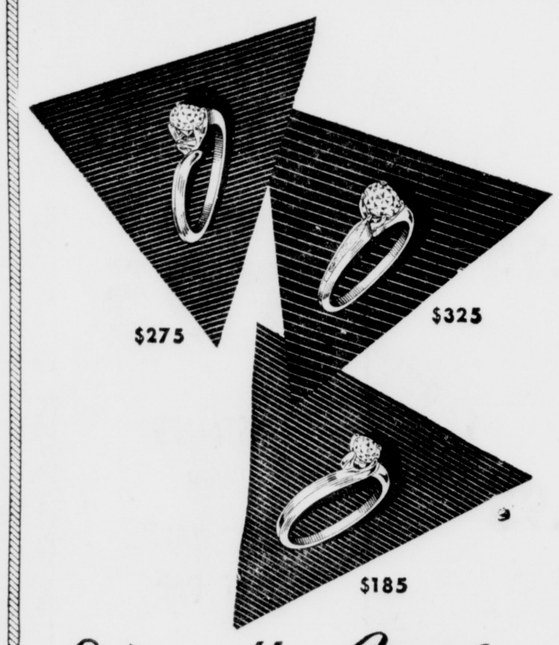

It is not only meat prices that are up.

The federal government has started selling surplus corn in an attempt to hold prices down.

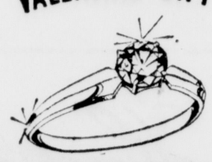

With all of this, the Department of Agriculture predicts the nation's food bill this year will reach $86 billion—$439 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

New Police Science Course Is Offered At Hudson Valley

Hudson Valley Community College President James J. Fitzgibbons today announced that the community college has received approval from the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York to offer a curriculum for the professional education of police. According to the president, the curriculum will be presented in the college's extension division and ultimately in the day division. The new program will lead to the awarding of Associate in Applied Science degree.

The first classes in the new Police Science Curriculum are expected to start within a month.

Although the college has been providing individual courses in police science over the last four years, this is the first time in the area that a degree has been available specifically for police officers.

The program was drawn up under the direction of a number of police specialists from throughout the state including Attorney J. Albert Barsamian of Troy, and the following area police chiefs: Chief James Doherty of Troy, Chief John Tuffey of Albany, Chief Stanley DuCharme of Schenectady and Chief Henry Arnold of Mechanicville.

In addition to such basic courses as economics and psychology, the officers will be required to pass such specialized courses as police law, electronic communications, principles of investigation, narcotic control and juvenile procedures.

President Fitzgibbons said that officers from the State Police and over 25 area departments have expressed an interest in the program. He also noted that the initiation of the new curriculum is part of a total community service program being undertaken by the college and various community oriented agencies.

ALONE WHILE COUPLES AT HER TABLE DANCED

Q: Last night I went to a dinner dance with a group of friends. We were supposed to have been five couples but at the last minute the young man who was to escort me took sick and couldn't go. My friends insisted that I go anyway, so I did. Several times during the evening the four couples got up and danced leaving me sitting alone. I felt like a bump on a log. Perhaps I am being oversensitive but I feel that they were very rude to leave me sitting there by myself. I would very much like to have your opinion on this.

A: Leaving you marooned at the table with no one to talk to several times during the evening was rude and one couple should have remained at the table until another returned, before getting up to dance.

Evening Slippers

Q: My daughter is being married at an evening wedding. I am wearing a pale blue floor-length evening dress. I have a pair of kid shoes the same color as the dress. Will you please tell me if these will be suitable to wear, or must evening shoes be of a fabric such as silk or satin?

A: Evening slippers are usually of silk or satin but a fine kid in the same color as your dress will be quite proper.

Returning Ring After Broken Engagement

Q: Two weeks ago the man to whom I was engaged told me he met and fell in love with someone else and that he was breaking our engagement. I would like to know if I am expected to return his ring. I have been told that since he broke the engagement, I am entitled to keep the ring. Will you please advise me?

A: Even though he broke the engagement, you should return his ring. Furthermore, I don't see why you would want to keep a ring that could only serve as a reminder of a very unhappy experience.

High School Seniors Hear Dr. Shelton on 'The Black Mystique'

Dr. Austin Shelton, anthropologist, novelist, and professor of non-Western literature at State University College at New Paltz, spoke to approximately sixty high school seniors of Senior Seminar on Saturday, Jan. 2. In his lecture, entitled "The Black Mystique" Dr. Shelton outlined what he termed the legacy imposed upon Africans by European countries through many years of colonization. Africans, according to Dr. Shelton, have inherited, among other things, a disease of racism and cultural superiority from Europeans when, actually, they were owners of a highly developed culture and a great body of literature long before Europeans arrived. Having lived in Nigeria and traveled extensively in Africa, Dr. Shelton was able to provide many interesting insights about Africa's emergence as a continent with a new and dramatic role in the modern world.

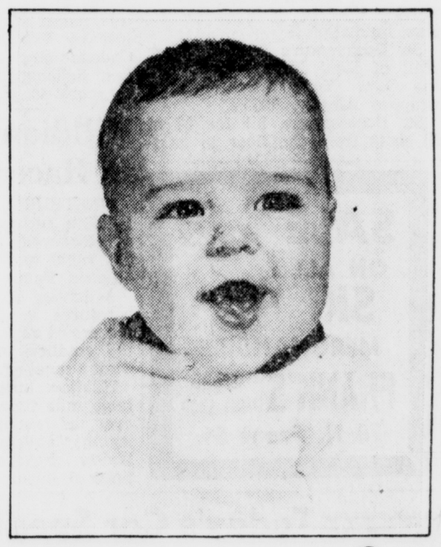

Senior Seminar, sponsored by the Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services, in conjunction with the Secondary School Principal's Association and State University College at New Paltz, provides a series of enrichment seminars for high school seniors annually. Coordinator for the program is Mr. Robert E. Wattles, an English teacher at Highland Junior-Senior High School.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

Like your basketball exciting? Like to hazard a guess as to the final outcome? Then, just turn your attention to the slam bang finish the Ulster County race promises to produce in the next six weeks.

New Paltz, the defending champion; Onteora and Marlboro have one loss each. Waiting in the wings to either sneak home a winner or to spoil the second half for the top three clubs is Rondout Valley, with three setbacks but very much alive.

THE FIRST CRUCIAL ONE

That takes place Friday at the Huguenot gym when Onteora pays a visit. New Paltz has an advantage, if there is such a thing, because coach Joe Helhoski's quintet plays its toughest competitors at home. That doesn't mean New Paltz is a shoo-in because on a given night, each club is capable of beating its opposition.

Onteora blew a big one to New Paltz early in the season after leading from the start. The Indians then bounced back to spoil Marlboro's unbeaten season. The Dukes, in turn, turned back New Paltz at Marlboro, setting up the three way tie.

Of course, while Onteora and New Paltz bang heads Friday, Marlboro is at the Rondout Valley gym and the Ganders seem to be gaining momentum after a poor start.

OTHER KEY GAMES

After this week's schedule, you might want to look ahead. On Feb. 11, Onteora visits Rondout. The following week, Marlboro hosts Onteora. On Feb. 21, Rondout visits New Paltz and on Feb. 25, Marlboro closes at New Paltz. As you can see, this one figures to go right to the wire, ample evidence that the UCAL is still the best balanced league in the area.

WONDERFUL WES

When Wes Bialosuknia, the Roosevelt High star was scoring points so fast in high school that you needed a computer to keep pace, there were those who said he wouldn't make it in college. How wrong they proved to be.

The 6-2 shooting whiz is a junior at Connecticut and it's no fault of his that the Huskies are only 6-6 this season. He amazed the basketball world last year as a sophomore and statistics this season show that Wes is well ahead of his 1964-65.

Bialosuknia is currently scoring at 22.8 (compared to 20.9) points and 5.4 rebounds a game. He is among the nation's leaders in free throw accuracy, hitting on 89.1 percent of 55 free throws. This compares to 84.3 percent after 12 games last season.

Even though the defense exerts more pressure on him, he has shown improvement in his field goal accuracy, connecting on 42.9 percent of 216 floor attempts, compared to 41.5 percent last year, when he had more time to shoot.

ALL-DCSL SELECTION

Bialosuknia was an All-DCSL selection for three straight years and he holds most of the scoring records in the circuit. That Connecticut isn't winning the Yankee Conference title this year, is not due to Wes but is because the Huskies haven't found a player to replace the great Toby Kimball in grabbing rebounds.

Wes is certain to gain All-American mention this year and should be even better as a senior. We haven't seen many shooters that can match him, especially from 30 to 35 feet out. It's like finding a target with radar.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Kingston High basketball coach John Gilligan has probably lost count of the birthdays he has been celebrating. He has another one on Friday night and we can safely predict that his basketball team will celebrate it with a victory.

The locals entertain Port Jervis at the Kate Walton Field House and everybody beats the Raiders, who have one of the poorest looking cage teams we have ever seen.

Anyway, we extend our birthday wishes to Gilligan and maybe his basketball team can make it a six-game celebration by winning the rest of its starts.

Hartwick Cagers Streaking at 9-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hartwick College will be looking for its third basketball victory this week as it hosts St. Michaels of Vermont tonight.

The Oneonta, N.Y., quintet defeated Muhlenburg of Pennsylvania on Monday, 104-78, and Harpur, 65-55, Wednesday night to bring its season record to 9-1.

Hartwick, ranked high among the nation's small colleges in defense, winds up a busy week with a game against Hobart on Saturday.

Another highly ranked small college, Youngstown of Ohio, picked up its 12th victory against one setback by beating Buffalo State, 87-62.

In other games Wednesday involving Upstate New York college quintets:

St. Bonaventure downed Seton Hall of New Jersey, 88-82 and the New York Athletic Club whipped Albany, 106-84.

St. Bonaventure hit for 32 of 52 shots from the floor in gaining its fourth straight victory and 11th in 14 games overall.

Individual scoring honors went to Seton Hall's Terry Morawski, who scored 24 points. The Bonnies were paced by Jim Satalin and George Carter, with 23 each, and Bill Butler, who hit for 21.

In addition to shooting 61 per cent from the floor, the winners sank 24 of 31 free throws.

Youngstown was sparked by Joe Nigro, who scored 36 points. The Penguins now are ranked fourth in the Associated Press small college poll. Buffalo suffered its fourth loss in 13 games.

Larry Marcus was high scorer for Albany as he tallied 20 points in the losing effort. NYAC was paced in the exhibition contest by two former Manhattan College stars, Matt Link and Len Schanppauf, who combined to score 40 points.

Hilldian Scores In Raceway Snow

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Hilldian braved cold and snow at Roosevelt Raceway Wednesday night to win the $3,200 Conditioned Pace.

A driving snowstorm and temperatures in the low 20s held the crowd at the track to 10,102, the smallest attendance at the winter meeting.

Hilldian turned in a respectable mile time of 2:07 2-5, however, in gaining a three-quarter-length victory over Gene's Widow. Favored Glenn H. W. finished third.

2nd Half Cold Spell Finishes 10-Game Streak

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

A four minute dry spell after the midway point of the second half proved too much for Ulster Community College to make up and the locals were handed their first setback of the season, 63-57, by Orange County Community College last night at the winners' gym in Middletown.

Coach Mike Perry's squad had just taken a 46-45 lead, thanks to a bucket by Paul Buytkins, when the drought set in. By the time it had ended, Orange was ahead, 58-46, and the game was as good as over.

The bucket by Buytkins came with 7:30 left on the clock. Al Angelone, former Newburgh star, put the Colts ahead with a side jump shot and, then in order, John Sileno, andother ex-NFA star, connected from underneath, Angelone hit twice in succession, Dave Brownbill potted a free throw and Sileno and Brownbill followed with buckets. The Senators never recovered.

Prior to the rally, the visitors had played catch up basketball. They fell behind in the first half and came storming back, with George Druttman and Jim Woodward showing the way.

A late spurt by the Colts sent them into the locker room with a 31-23 lead at the interim. They saw the edge razored early in the second half and finally lost it for that brief instant only to regain it once more.

Comes Off Bench

Angelone was the sparkplug for the winners. He came off the bench in the second half and netted six field goals. His scoring picked up the slack caused by the defensive job Druttman did on Brownbill, the Colts' record breaking point maker.

Going into the game with an average of almost 25 points a start, Brownbill was held to 11 points, his low total for the year.

Orange won the game on the backboards. Silono, Bruce Boynton and Angelone outdueled Brad Meyer and Cliff Schoonmaker, the big boys for the Senators.

Ulster will try to get back on the winning beam this Saturday, meeting Fashion Institute in New York City. The setback at Orange temporarily stalled the locals' hopes of moving into the top five of Region XV. Orange was rated fifth prior to the contest and recorded victory number 11 against three setbacks. The Senators are now at 10-1.

76ers Take Cunningham Over Rick Barry as Rookie of Year

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) —The statistics say Rick Barry should be the National Basketball Association's rookie of the year.

The Philadelphia 76ers, however, concede nothing.

Their choice is Billy Cunningham, which isn't too strange considering the rookie from North Carolina has been the biggest surprise of the season for 76ers' coach Dolph Schayes.

"Just ask the coaches around the league," said Schayes, "and you'll find that Cunningham is rated higher than Barry.

"Remember, Cunningham's scoring and rebounding averages aren't as high as Barry's because we have three other pretty good forwards in Chet Walker, Luke Jackson and Dave Gambee.

"That means he's playing at least 10 to 15 minutes less per game than Barry.

"And look at many of the points Barry gets. They're mostly on the break. Cunningham has to really work for his shots."

At 6-6, 215 pounds, there is no other way in the NBA.

"I give away a few inches and pounds to nearly everyone who plays me," Cunningham said, "so I just try to counter this with speed, which is my biggest asset.

Fantastic Pace

"But it stil' doesn't stop me from taking a pretty good beating out there. I find that one of the toughest things to adjust to. The physical pace of this game is fantastic.

"Actually, all summer when I was touring Europe with the State Department all-star team I figured I'd better work on playing as a guard.

"But in camp, Dolph just put me at forward and I was happy. I didn't think I'd stick around too long as a guard."

Bill Cunningham

In addition to his speed, Cunningham has tremendous spring which enables him to out-rebound men two and three inches taller.

A left-hander, Cunningham also has the given ability instinctively to change direction, making it extremely tough on a defensive man who might be over-playing him.

"I've played Barry and I've played Cunningham, too," said teammate Walker, "and I'm telling you that Billy has the better moves.

"It's too bad he couldn't have made the all-star team like Rick. He deserves it, too."

And who beat Cunningham for the remaining forward spot? Chet Walker.

Two Share Lead In Trials for FIS Ski Team

PUTNEY, Vt. (AP) — Mike Gallagher of Killington, Vt., held the cross country lead and John Bower of Auburn, Maine, was ahead in the Nordic combined standings today in trials for the U.S. FIS ski team.

Gallagher won the opening 15-kilometer cross country event Wednesday, topping a field of 36 with a time of 51:48. Trailing in order we Mike Elliott of Durango, Colo., 52:33, Larry Damon of Burlington, Vt., 53:42, and Bob Gray of Putney, 55:31.

Bower, a member of the 1964 Olympic team, led 12 entrants seeking combined berths for the FIS competition in Norway. He finished sixth in the cross country in 56:28 after posting a victory and a fourth in two jumping events.

Leig Bringslimark, former Norwegian champion now with the Telemark Ski Club of New York, remained close behind Bower by finishing fourth among combined competitors. Bringslimark placed second to Bower in last Saturday's jump, then won the second Tuesday on Brattleboro's 65-meter Harris Hill.

A 30-kilometer cross country race will be held in Hanover, N.H., next Tuesday. The trials will wind up with a 15-kilometer race and a final jump at Lake Placid, N.Y., later next week.

Great Proximity Is Destroyed

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Proximity, considered harness racing's greatest trotting mare at the time of her retirement in 1951, was destroyed humanely at the Castleton Farm in Lexington, Ky. Wednesday after she had suffered a broken hip in an accident.

Gordon Verhurst, son of Ralph Verhurst, the mare's owner, received word of the mare's death in a phone call to Roosevelt Raceway here where he is the presiding judge.

Verhurst said that three veterinarians agreed that Proximity should be put out of her misery because of her equine old age, 24 years. She was in foal to Diller Hanover at the time of her death.

It was at the old Roosevelt Raceway that Proximity, winner of 99 races in 195 starts and $252,929, scored some of her greatest triumphs.

Houston Cougars Rate With Tops in Nation

The University of Houston's Cougars have become one of the best independent college basketball teams in the country after losing their first three games of the season.

The Cougars, playing on their home court in Texas, edged Baylor 92-91 in overtime Wednesday night for their sixth straight victory. They now have won 11 of 12 games since their first three defeats by San Francisco, Brigham Young and Texas A&M for an over-all 11-4 record. Their other defeat was by one point to Maryland 69-68.

The Cougars boast a 102-89 victory over the Providence Friars, the lone defeat of the season for the Friars, third-ranked in The Associated Press poll.

The Cougars also own a 72-71 road triumph over the Tulsa Hurricane, the leader in the tough Missouri Valley Conference.

Joe Hamood, whose basket in the last 36 seconds beat Tulsa, was the hero again against Baylor. He beat the Bears with a free throw in the last seven seconds of the extra period. This gave the Cougars a three-point lead and they made no effort to stop Russell Kibbe from scoring a Baylor basket with two seconds left.

Hamood paced the Cougars with 27 points. Darrell Hardy, who forced the overtime with a corner shot in the last 14 seconds to tie the regulation game at 83-83, was high for Baylor with 21.

Bearcats Pressed

Eighth-ranked Cincinnati, the only team in the AP Top Ten, to see action, had a hard struggle at home to defeat St. Joseph's College of Indiana, the team which upset the Bearcats a year ago. This time the Bearcats won 71-66, paced by sophomore John Howard's 26 points.

Drake came from behind for a 74-71 road triumph over Iowa State in the 120th renewal of their basketball rivalry. Bob Netolicky, with 16, and Herman Watson and Hardol Jeter, with 15 each, combined for 46 points to lead the Bulldogs. Sophomore Don Smith starred in a losing cause with 30 points and 24 rebounds for a single-game Iowa State record.

Miami of Ohio, the leader in the Mid-American Conference, won its 10th straight with a 74-57 home-court victory over Marshall. Army edged Rutgers 62-61 at West Point for its sixth in a row.

Red Robbins, 21, and Ron Widby, 20, combined for 41 points to lead Tennessee over North Carolina State 65-54 on the neutral Mid-South Coliseum court in Memphis.

More N.L. Night Games in '66, But None in Chi'

CINCINNATI (AP) — Baseball fans in National League cities will see an increased number of games under the lights this year.

The league's 1966 schedule shows 462 night games — compared with 433 last year. Chicago's Wrigley Field is the only ball park without lights so all Cub home games, as in the past, wil be daytime affairs.

One of the season's first games under the lights will be the debut of the new Atlanta Braves, who take on Pittsburgh in a home game the night of April 12.

St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco also play their first home games April 12, one day after the season starts, at Cincinnati's Crosley Field with a game between the Reds and the New York Mets.

Cincinnati starts a day before the rest of the league in alternating years. It always opens the season at home in recognition of the fact the first professional baseball team was formed here in 1869.

Philadelphia, which plays its first game at St. Louis, will open at home April 15 against the Reds. Houston and Chicago start play on the West Coast, at Los Angeles and San Francisco, respectively.

The Braves travel to New York for the Mets' home opener April 15, and the Cardinals face Pittsburgh the same day in the Pirates' first home game.

Chicago fans will be the last to see their team in action. The Cubs' home opener is April 19 against San Francisco. Houston plays its first home game April 18 against Los Angeles.

Rangers Shatter Red Wing Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soft - spoken Jean Ratelle, playing with rambunctious Reg Fleming and two - fisted Vic Hadfield on his wings, has turned into a tiger who could put the bite on Detroit's National Hockey League championship aspirations.

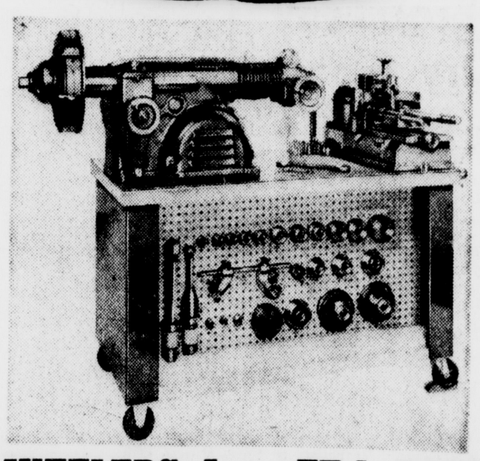

New York's somewhat reticent center ended the Red Wings' nine-game unbeaten string Wednesday with a goal in the last two minutes that gave the Rangers a 4-3 victory over the rampaging league leaders.

In Wednesday's other NHL game, Bobby Hull scored his 39th goal and Phil Esposito hit twice as Chicago moved within two points of the leaders with a 4-2 victory over Montreal.

Ratelle has had Fleming ad Hadfield on his wings for six games and has had three goals — two of them in the late stages of games against Detroit that gave New York a tie and a victory. Those are the only games Detroit has failed to win in the last 10 starts.

Chicago Entry in NBA Eyes Cazzie

CHICAGO (AP) — The hopes of Chicago's entry in the National Basketball Association for next season undoubtedly rest with the possible acquisition of home-towner Cazzie Russell, the All-America at Michigan.

Chicago twice before has failed to make a go in the NBA, but Wednesday it was given another chance by the league's board of governors in New York.

They voted to expand to 10 teams with the new franchise awarded to a Chicago group headed by Dick Klein, former basketball player at Northwestern and with the old Chicago Gears pro team of the 1940s, and now head of his own sales promotion company.

Russell could become the hub of the team and kingpin of its promotion.

Cazzie reportedly said in Ann Arbor, Mich., Wednesday night: "Several people interested in a franchise for Chicago have talked to me. I am inquisitive about what the outcome will be. It will be a tougher decision about me playing in Chicago than a lot of people think."

The last time Chicago made a run for it in the NBA was 1961. The team was first called the Packers and then the Zephyrs, and moved to Baltimore in 1963. Prior to that were the Stags who lasted from 1946 to 1950.

When Chicago got a franchise in 1961, it received from the NBA the No. 1 draft choice and five choices on the second round. Walt Bellamy of Indiana was a top pick and some NBA owners are said still to be sour about it. They may not be that generous again with a new team.

Whether they are may be disclosed today at a news conference in Chicago attended by Walter Kennedy, NBA president; Ben Kerner, owner of the St. Louis Hawks and chairman of the expansion committee, and Klein, who is to tell of his plans to make the International Amphitheatre home base.

Williams Lake Joppenberg Mt. Tourney Sites

No longer plagued by the snow problem, Rosendale Nordic Ski Club officials are looking forward to a busy weekend.

The New York State Cross Country and Combined event is scheduled Saturday at 2 p. m. at Williams Lake.

On Sunday at 2 p. m., the ski jumping event will be held at the refurbished 70-meter Joppenberg Mountain slope.

The Saturday schedule includes cross country competition in Classes A-B, Veterans and women. The A-B group compete at 15 kilometers; Veterans at 7½ kilometers and women at 5 kilometers.

The ski jumping event Sunday is for Classes A, B, Junior A and Veterans.

The Nordic combined scoring system will be used to rate competitors on their skill in jumping and cross country. Winners will be recognized as New York State champions for 1965.

See Better Jumps

Improvements on the out-run at the Joppenberg slope are expected to produce jumps between 200 and 250 feet, it is predicted. The vertical height of the out-run has been raised several feet to insure faster takeoffs.

Several of last week's winners and Roger Dion, the Dartmouth barber, are expected to compete. Per Coucheron, the Norwegian exchange student at Dartmouth, who leaped 179 and 183 feet last Sunday, is due to return along with Knut Stromstadt, Bernie Dion, Earl Murphy.

The Rosendale contingent of Peter Langlois (A) and Bob Roderick and Steve White in Class B is ready for the invaders. White and Roderick were both shaken up in accidents prior to last week's skiing but are expected to be ready for action.

Bruce Falk of Bear Mountain, a consistent winner in the Veterans division, is a strong favorite to repeat his triumph of a week ago, when he won with leaps of 137 and 132 feet.

Practice jumps start at 1 p. m. with the competition starting at 2 p. m.

U.S. Pins Hopes On Upstaters in World Bobsleds

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy (AP) — Three New York State men and an Air Force captain face an overwhelming task this weekend in trying to bring the two-man world bobsled championship back to the United States.

Gil Jones of Saranac Lake, N.Y., and Capt. Jim Compton of Travis Air Force base in California were named as one team while Fred Fortune and Joe P. Wilson, both of Lake Placid, N.Y., were selected as the other following Wednesday night's practice runds down the 1,700-meter Rinco chute.

Left off the U.S. teams for the championships that will be held Saturday and Sunday nights were Bill Thomas and John Migmacci, both of Mechanicsville, N.Y.

The American teams, however, will have to speed down the chute a lot faster than they did Wednesday night if they hope to have a chance for the world crown.

Jones and Compton completed their two practice runs in 2:39.70, the ninth best time among competitors. Fortune and Wilson were 10th with a total time of 2:40.41.

Both were far off the pace set by Italians Eugenio Monti and Sergio Sorpaes, the pair favored to win the championship.

Monti and Sorpaes posted the fastest single run of 1:17.88 as well as turning in the best aggregate time, 2:36.68, for the third straight night.

The Italians' roughest competition is expected to come from the defending champions, Tony Nash and Robin Dixon of Great Britain. The other British team will have two members of the Royal Air Force, John Blockey and Michael Freeman.

Erwin Thaler, who won the European championship last week with Adol Koxear, will race for Austria with Ceinhold Durnthaler.

Final practice runs are set for tonight.

Larrie Pucksters Rip Carleton, 13-2

CANTON, N.Y. (AP) — Eight St. Lawrence players shared in a scoring feast at the expense of the Carleton University hockey team, which went down to a 13-2 defeat Wednesday night.

The Larries broke loose midway through the first period, scoring three goals in 27 seconds, and ran the score up to 11-1 in the second period.

Sophomore John Makins slammed home three straight goals to help bring the Larries' season record to 10-4.

Ski Committees Form Vital Part of Successful Program

"The heart of any ski club worth its salt is its Ski Committee," says Joe Shapiro, last year's president of the Kingston Trail Sweepers.

Because of the Trail Sweepers' active ski committees—the Junior Program, Alpine Racing program and the Ski Education group—skiing at all levels has been promoted for every group in the community.

The Junior Program is a vital part of a ski club. This is due to the fact that any truly great skier must develop at an early age.

"If this area is ever to produce any Olympic skiers," said Chuck Niles of Poughkeepsie (this year's Junior Program chairman), "it must provide the kind of instruction which will foster a child's interest. It is our hope that the Trail Sweepers Junior Program will fulfill this need."

Started in 1961-62

Founded by Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Goffredi as an official part of the Trail Sweepers in the 1961-62 season, the Junior Program is open to children aged 10 through 18, if still in high school. The maximum membership number is 150.

"Our program is divided into two distinct functions—skiing instruction and racing instruction," said Niles. "Those juniors receiving skiing instructions are classified from "A" to "F." "A" consists of the very basic skiing maneuvers and "F" the most advanced. As the junior progresses, he moves to a better classification."

Nile pointed out that juniors are classified differently for racing. They are classified as I through IV. These numbers correspond to age groups: I, 16-17 years old; II, 14-15 years; III, 12-13 years; IV, 11 and under.

I's and II's are further classified as A, B, C or D competitors, with A being the best. Juniors classified as A or B are considered good enough to race in Senior races.

Champs in Three Divisions Seek to Retain Skate Titles

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —Champions in three divisions return to defend their titles and try for places on the United States team in the National Figure Skating Championships at Davos, Switzerland, starting Feb. 22.

Peggy Fleming, 17, is the only defending champion who is going for a third consecutive title. The senior ladies' champ first learned to skate at Berkeley Iceland when her father was a newspaper pressman in neighboring Oakland.

Gary Visconti, 20, of Detroit, upset Scott Allen, 17, in the senior men's event last year at Lake Placid, N.Y. Allen, the 1964 champ, is back to challenge Visconti.

Trying for a second consecutive title in the Gold Dance is the strikingly handsome Los Angeles pair of Dennis Sveum and Kristin Fortune.

There are four senior divisions and six novice or junior divisions in the Nationals and 121 carefully chosen participants.

Making the trip will be the first three senior men and ladies, the top two senior pairs and the leading three Gold Dancers.

Preliminary school figures for individual novice skaters started Wednesday on the large 200 by 100 foot Berkeley Iceland rink which is hosting its third Nationals. The rink seats 3,500 and capacity crowds are expected for the last two nights.

Eight Challengers

Miss Fleming, now of Colorado Springs, Colo., has eight challengers. They include Albertina Niyes, 16, of Arlington, Mass., third last year; and 1965 junior champion Shari Bates, 18 of Oakland.

Sveum and Miss Fortune once again must contend with Lorna Dyer, 20, and John Carrell, 19, of Colorado Springs, second in this event last year.

Ronald Kauffman, 19, his 17-year-old sister, Cynthia, who finished second at Lake Placid in the senior pairs, try for the top spot this time.

In pairs, the man and women free skate together in unison. Compulsory prescribed moves count for one-third the scoring and free skating two-thirds.

Dances have compulsory figures that count 60 per cent. Free dancing makes up the other 40 per cent of the scores.

Individuals must know all 69 of the traditional school figures which are variables of the two-lobed figure eights and three-lobed serpenties. They don't have to do all of them in this competition. But they do not know beforehand which ones they'll be called on to perform because the required figures are drawn by lot.

The school figures, which count 60 per cent, must be retraced three times without putting more than one edge of the 5-32 on an inch hollow ground blade on the ice at one time.

Considering all the precision needed, it is no wonder that it takes years and years of four hours a day practice or more to reach the national level.

Crothers-Keino Mike Duel Stirs The Track World

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Crothers, a quiet, soft-spoken Canadian who doesn't waste words, laid it on the line about tonight's duel with Kenya's Kipchoge Keino in the Wanamaker Mile at the Millrose Games.

"It'll just depend on how much guts I have," he said. "If I have lots, I'll run a 3:58. If I have none, I'll do a 4:10."

The match-up of the Kenyan, who has ripped off two world records in the last few months, and has become one of the world's most exciting runners, and Crothers, one of the world's finest middle-distance runners, easily tops the card for the first of the New York indoor meets.

But it has to share some of the glamor with spectacular fields in other events.

For example, John Pennel who set an indoor mark of 16-9¼ last week in Los Angeles, has announced an attempt at 17 feet in the pole vault.

John Thomas, attempting a comeback in the high jump, will be challenged by Frank Costello, a seven-footer from Maryland.

But it's the mile that will draw the most attention. Besides Keino and Crothers, the field includes Olympic 1,500-meter silver medalist Josef Odlozil of Czechoslovakia, Bob Day and Keith Forman, both sub-four milers, and Canadian veteran Ergas Leps.

Keino is the headliner. The 26-year-old Kenyan policeman has set world marks at 3,000 and 5,000 meters and has clipped off a 3:54.2 mile — all outdoors.

Atlanta Falcons Pick Norb Hecker

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The new head coach of the Atlanta Falcons sometimes goes by the name of J. Jones.

By now, those interested in National Football League affairs know that the Falcons' man is Norb Hecker.

He used the name 'J. Jones" to keep secret Falcon owner Rankin Smith's selection of a new head coach.

"I felt like agent 007 coming into Atlanta," said Hecker, 38, who for the past six years has been assistant coach with the Green Bay Packers. "I thought the game was up on an airplane when a stewardess recognized me and said, 'Hello, Mr. Hecker.' But no one else found out."

Hecker wasted little time getting to work. He started calling friends Wednesday afternoon in a search for five assistant coaches.

He said he dosn't plan to move his wife and five children to Atlanta until school is out "because I'm going to be so busy I wouldn't have time to spend with them anyway."

Hecker was first contacted by the Falcons last Saturday, and was told Tuesday to fly to Atlanta so he could be introduced at a news conference Wednesday.

Pleased With Squad

Hecker said that he feels Atlanta has some top college players on its roster, "and with the 42 players we will get from the other teams I believe we will have pretty good talent."

The former Baldwin-Wallace College star, who played hafback for the Los Angeles Rams and the Washington Redskins before a knee injury ended his NFL career in 1957, said he will first build a strong defense with the Falcons.

"You can't win in the NFL without a good defense," said Hecker, who has been defensive backfield coach for the Packers. "And it is easier to build a defense than an offense."

Hecker has been considered one of Packer Coach Vince Lombardi's top aides. But he lacks Lombardi's brooding intensity and is slow to anger.

"Norb has all the qualifications of a paragon," Lombardi said. "He is a very fine young gentleman, highly intelligent and with a fine personality. He is extremely loyal and one of the finest workers I have ever seen on my staff."

Lombardi, who recommended Hecker for the Atlanta coaching post, said he didn't know his former aide's coaching policy. "He's been coaching with mine and now he'll have to coach with his own," said Lombardi.

1966 Getaway Is Best for Palmer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Golf's leading money winner of all time, Arnold Palmer, opened play today in the $55,000 Lucky International Open after starting 1966 faster than any other year in his remarkable pro career.

Arnie won low pro honors in the pro-amateur prelude over the Harding Park municipal course to push his January earnings to $20,750.

Not a bad start for a fellow who many thought on the down grade when he placed only 10th on the money list in 1965 with $57,770 in official winnings and $82,989 over-all.

Today Palmer left the tee among the late starters for this first round of San Francisco's 72-hole event with its $7,500 top prize.

He had whipped around Harding in 65 Wednesday followed by a big gallery and playing with three amateur partners who helped him to a 56 in the team play, tied for second with a group headed by George Bayer, who individually had a 70.

Don Massengale, who hung on to beat Arnie by a stroke last Sunday at the Crosby, also found Harding to his liking in the pro-am and posted a 67. So did Randy Glover and Billy Maxwell.

The latter and his team of Californians won the team honors with a best-ball 55. With Maxwell were Erick Engman of San Francisco, Lloyd F. Fritzell of Red Bluff and Lou Spiro of Stockton.

Most of the interest centered on the big guns. Defending champion George Archer shot a 68, Ken Venturi a 69, Billy Casper a 70 and Tony Lema a 71.

Palmer started this year the same as he did 1963 with a victory at Los Angeles, but three years ago he was disqualified in the Crosby. In 1961, Arnie won at San Diego but didn't make the cut at Los Angeles after carding a 12 on one hole and he placed only fourth at the Crosby.

So this year has been the best of all.

Cornell Mentor Pledges No Raid In Old Ranks

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — "Dartmouth has been good to me and I'm not going to raid its coaching staff," says Jack Musick, new head football coach at Cornell University.

Musick, 40, was named Wednesday from his post as line coach for Dartmouth College's undefeated Ivy League champions.

He succeeded Tom Harp, 38, who became head coach at Duke University after five years of guiding the Big Red.

During his 11 years with the Indians, Dartmouth gridders compiled a 69-27-3 record, including three Ivy titles and two unbeaten seasons.

Musick was a standout lineman at the University of Southern California from 1945 to 1947 and came to Dartmouth as part of head coach Bob Blackman's staff in 1953.

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers looks more at home in a bistro than any athlete I know. Not because he savors the high life, either.

It's just that he's impeccably groomed in dark suit, white shirt and gleaming black hair. His face has just enough shade of tan to be the boss who runs the joint and also spends his weekend in Palm Springs.

He's slick like the kind you find around the best spot in any big city. He gives it tone. And he's unfailingly polite.

"Sweet," murmurs the matron after she shakes his hand and says, "won't the girls in the office be surprised." And Sandy, acknowledging the introduction, later remembers her name when he gracefully leaves.

For a guy who doesn't give much of himself — who retains a remarkable reserve under the pressure of public adulation — he's also enigmatically very much at home with strangers.

Sandy has learned to say the right thing. He's a smooth Stan Musial.

He smiles; he banters; he shakes hands. And sometimes you get the feeling he almost likes it.

This is a million dollar property which isn't trying very hard to make the million.

He does what he has to. A banquet here, a luncheon there, a dinner elsewhere, though he'd much rather be off by himself in the reclusive bachelor existence he manages to maintain in this sprawling megalopolis.

Because he became so dominant a figure in baseball last season capped by his superb World Series performance, the demands on Sandy's time are inexorable. The merry-go-round of appearances has already started and will keep him on the winter whirl right up until it's time to go to spring training at Vero Beach. A year ago, he even came under the wing of Executive Business Management, a Los Angeles agency, to handle his away-from-the-diamond activities.

For his pitching, Sandy will sign, when the time comes, for something around $100,000. And if Walter O'Malley can let his sense of the dramatic overcome his basic penuriousness, he'd give Sandy even more and let him become the highest paid player in history — a rare tribute for a pitcher who contributes only once every four days.

Any figure around 100 Gs would still leave Koufax some $600,000 shy of the $700,000 Walter Winchell racked up as his prospective income for 1966.

"I'll take the difference," Sandy smiles ruefully, "between the $700,000 and what I'll actually make. Where do they get those figures?"

Then he pondered seriously, "It had to be a typographical mistake, don't you think?"

Sandy is now 30 years old, still a bachelor and not worried over his material future. Even his physical condition causes no anxiety after he proved it's possible to win 26 games, plus two in a World Series, with an arthritic elbow.

Of much more concern is his golf swing. He hits 'em left-handed, putts right-handed and confesses that it really doesn't matter — "it's terrible from either side."

Besides which all that travel — New York, Boston, Houston, Chicago and points in between — interferes with his tee time. He's a member in good standing of the 100,000-mile club. Of course, every mile means a buck.

Some guys would settle for that instead of golf.

Dear Abby . . .

It's A Strong Odor!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married only three weeks and already I have a problem. I work in a warehouse and we aren't allowed to smoke on the job, so I chew tobacco., Doing heavy work, I sweat a lot. When I come home from work and go to hug and kiss my bride, she pushes me away and says, "Go brush your teeth and take a shower; you smell terrible!" How is that for a welcome home?

I say if she really loved me she wouldn't care how I smelled. She says if I really loved HER I wouldn't come near her smelling like that. A big fight follows, and even after I clean up I wouldn't go near her if she got on her knees and begged me to.

So it's been five days and I haven't gone near her. Am I wrong, or is she?

BIG JOE

DEAR JOE: You're wrong. She loves you, but tobacco breath and perspiration are enough to wither any passion flower. So in the future, when you come home from work, head straight for the shower. Scrub up and wash out your mouth. (And a little men's deodorant and cologne wouldn't hurt, either.) Then take her in your arms and see what kind of welcome you get.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 18 years to a wonderful woman. We have no children at home. I own my own business, and give my wife $100 weekly for her own personal use while I pay all the bills. Here is the problem: Although we live in a 15-room house with nine bedrooms, my wife allows her mother, who is in excellent health, to be in a "rest home." I have asked my wife many times to bring her mother here to live with us. Her only excuse is that she will "upset the smooth running of our home." This is a laugh. There is nothing to do here, and my wife has help. If it were MY mother, I would insist that she live with us. But because it is my wife's mother I feel my wife shou'd make the offer. She reads your column. Perhaps you can awaken her to her responsibility.

BEWILDERED

DEAR BEWILDERED: Consider the mother. She will probably be much happier at the rest home than living with a daughter who doesn't really want her.

DEAR ABBY: For years I had a wart on my finger. It didn't bother me much except when I'd catch it on something. Then it would bleed. But it never really hurt me or anything like that. Well, I was at a neighbor's one afternoon and her mother was visiting her. She noticed the wart on my finger and told me if I wanted to get rid of it I should tie three knots in a piece of string and bury it in my yard. And when the string rotted, my wart would go away. Abby, I did what she told me to do, and within three weeks my wart was gone. How can you explain this? Nobody believes me.

SYLVIA

DEAR SYLVIA: There is no scientific explanation for some of the "cures" that seem to work. The removal of warts is a medical problem. There's no harm in burying a piece of string in the yard, providing one doesn't bury the string INSTEAD of seeing a doctor.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Re the letter from the woman who complained that her 25-year-old brother is able-bodied, intelligent and unemployed. She said he lives at home, sleeps 'til noon, plays pool all day and tells his parents he is job hunting. His mother buys his clothes and provides him with a car and spending money. The mother was advised to throw him out, but she won't. The letter was signed "AUS-GESPIELT," which means "all played out" in German. Our 22-year-old son recently returned from Vietnam and landed a job in one week. He has no car, buys his own clothes and pays board and room. Would you please send him the address of "AUS-GESPIELTS" mother? He'd like to move in.

Woman Is Third Dutchess Road Victim of Year

Mrs. Ethel Sandberg, 53, of Pleasant Valley became Dutchess County's third highway fatality Wednesday when in attempting to avoid a child on a sled, her car swerved, went into a skid and struck a tree.

The child, 9-year-old Wendy Northrup, suffered a broken leg.

Mrs. Sandberg was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Francis Hospital. The accident occurred on the Pleasant Valley-Freedom Pains Road.

Just a Reminder

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Victor Boels, 49, was approached on the street by a group of local high school boys. "We're selling signs," they said. "Would you like to buy one?"

Boels looked at the sign. It said, "No peddlers, agents or solicitors."

Major Facts, Figures in LBJ Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the major facts and figures in President Johnson's economic report sent to Congress today:

INCOME — Demand and production booms should add $46.5 billion to fiscal 1967 gross national income — swelling it to a record $722 billion.

EMPLOYMENT — 2.5 million more Americans at work in 1965; unemployment rate dropped to 4.1 per cent by end of year.

WAGES — Take-home pay of average manufacturing worker gained 4 per cent last year; total personal income in December was running at annual rate of $550 billion, up 7½ per cent over January 1965 rate.

PROFITS — Corporation profits after taxes were up 29 per cent last year and 67 per cent over 1959 earnings; farm income rose record 23 per cent, and small-business profits were up 7½ per cent.

FEDERAL RECEIPTS — Rose $8.5 billion in 1965; state receipts were up $4.33 billion.

BALANCE OF PAYMENTS — Reduced to less than half of that in 1964 and 1963.

Banana Bonanza Develops Into Scholarship Fund

DETROIT (AP) — The great banana bonanza is over.

A collection of nearly 70,000 banana labels, begun as a prank at a private girl's school in suburban Bloomfield Hills, was traded in Wednesday for a $2,600 scholarship and a $500 donation to the Detroit Christmas Seal Fund.

The prank, which snowballed into a nationwide collecting drive, began last November when two 17-year-old seniors at Kingswood School removed the labels from their luncheon bananas and wore them on their foreheads for the rest of the day.

Curious classmates and teachers were told by Mary Jane Hilder and Christina Darwell they were collecting the labels to win a scholarship to the school for a Central-American girl.

From then the "scholarship collection" mushroomed.

Labels began pouring into the school from across the nation and several foreign countries.

As the deluge increased, the girls began to wonder what they were going to do with thousands of labels.

They wrote John M. Fox, president of a fruit company in Boston, and explained their predicament.

Fox made the girls an offer—if they collected 15,650 labels by next May 8, his company would provide the scholarship and a donation to the Christmas Seal Fund.

By last week placards in the school displayed more than 68,000 labels with more pouring in daily. Fox agreed the terms of his offer had been met.

LBJ Exudes . . .

told Congress, "will be to preserve the essential stability of costs and prices which has contributed significantly to our balanced progress."

Warns of Tax Hikes

New requirements of the war in Viet Nam make it more difficult to keep prices stable, the President said. Again he warned of possible tax increases rather than more reductions.

"We know that we do not need to put our growing economy into a straightjacket, or to throw it into a reverse. But the extent of the fiscal or monetary restraint that will be needed to avoid inflationary pressures will depend directly on the restraint and moderation exercised by those who have power over wages and prices."

GNP Should Gain

On the general economic outlook, Congress got word that the gross national product — the value of all the goods and services the country produces, should go up $46.5 billion this year. That would be just a shade short of the record $47 billion last year and would push the total to around $722 billion.

Again this year, spending on defense and on fixed investments of business — plants and equipment — is expected to be the main source of power for a continued economic surge.

Johnson foresees rising consumer incomes this year going largely into "expenditures for better living." With the national output at $722 billion he foresees an extra $40 billion for spending and production for civilian needs in 1966.

He also foresees unemployment shrinking below 4 per cent, to the lowest rate since 1953. He predicts great advances in the productive capacity of industries and full use of it, without overuse or strain, to mark up good gains in output.

Cobleskill Water Break

COBLESKILL, N.Y. (AP)—A break in the main water line today left 4,000 persons in and around Cobleskill virtually without water.

Water Commissioner Frank Florio said it would take about 24 hours to locate the break in the line, somewhere between Mineral Springs and Cobleskill, Schoharie County.

Residents were asked to limit their use of water as the pressure went down.

ADDRESSES WORKSHOP—Miss Marguerite Driscoll of bureau of curriculum research, New York City Board of Education leads discussion on composition in elementary schools at an English Language Arts Workshop for Kingston Schools elementary teachers Wednesday at George Washington School. She also addressed the group at morning sessions on the topic of Temporal Order. Dr. Vivienne Anderson, acting chief of bureau of continuing education, gave an Overview of Experimental Syllabus. Planning committee for the one-day workshop was Victor Mahoney, Dennis Kennedy, Robert Corcoran, Reginald Russell, Robert Tucker and the Mmes. Carolyn Morse, Judith Mathews, Joanne Coutant. Advisors were Mrs. Marion Gregory, elementary supervisor and Miss Martha Barnett, head of the English department.

Tea Garden Break-in

Local police were notified today of the theft of an unknown amount of cigarettes and phonograph records from Eng's Tea Garden, 297 Wall Street. Entrance was gained by the breaking of a door. The restaurant is to be relocated in the building which formerly housed the Whelan Drug Store, across the street and has been closed.

Bar Thompson From Arlington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department today barred convicted Communist party leader Robert G. Thompson, a decorated veteran of World War II, from burial in Arlington National Cemetery.

The action was disclosed in a terse statement which said: "The decision followed a review of the facts, including an opinion from the attorney general of the United States."

The Pentagon said Thompson, who won the Distinguished Service Cross for valor in the New Guinea campaign of World War II, "will not be interred in Arlington cemetery."

Disclosure last week by Thompson's wife that he would be buried in Arlington Jan. 31 caused a wave of protests from veterans organizations and individuals.

Two days ago, the Pentagon ordered the burial delayed pending a legal opinion from the Justice Department.

Aver $100,000 . . .

before a federal court hearing in Rochester last April.

Regarding the initial $100,000, Gold said he and Mintz went to Florida in April 1964 and got the money, in cash, from boxing promoters Jack and Jim Nilon of Chester, Pa. They had obtained the food and drink concessions at the Finger Lakes track.

Gold said further that when he and Mintz got back from Miami, Mintz told him regarding the money that "he was going to give it to Jud," meaning L. Judson Morhouse, former Republican state chairman. Morhouse is now under indictment in connection with another scandal — in liquor licensing.

But, Gold said, Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller "got wind" of what was then purported to be a $100,000 "campaign contribution" and ordered it rejected.

A couple of days later, Gold continued, Mintz informed him that Morhouse had returned the money. Gold said Mintz turned the cash over to him — a thousand $100 bills — and that he got it back to the Nilons.

Gold, who secured the parking concession at the track, was subsequently convicted of perjury for lying to the investigating grand jury and is now awaiting sentencing. Wednesday he blamed that predicament on Mintz. He said Mintz advised him to give evasive and unrevealing answers to the jury.

Mintz told him, Gold testified, to "just go in there (the jury room) and say to the best of your recollection I never had the money."

The race track opened in January 1962 — fully licensed. Its ownership has since changed hands.

There was also a discussion on taking advantage of Income Investment Credit on orchards and vineyards. Under a ruling growes may take a 7 per cent depreciation on orchards and vineyards when making out farm income tax.

Also on today's agenda was a talk on Irrigation and How the Drought Affected Maintenance of Trees. Also, the method of irrigation, whether it be over the trees or under the trees.

In addition to the discussions which take place at each session, there are a large number of commercial displays showing the latest in farm machinery and equipment.

O'Connor Moves To Get More in Government Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Feelings of "homelessness" and not "belonging" to the city are too widespread here, City Council President Frank D. O'Connor said Thursday in issuing a program designed to get more people involved in city government.

His program was built on the concept of bringing many government services to the community level — the neighborhoods around which many New Yorkers "develop an attachment."

New Money Not Needed

And the advisory role of community districts and planning boards should be expanded and strengthened, the Democratic official said in a 14-page "Community Development Program."

O'Connor said his program would not need new money and could save the city money in the long run. He also stressed he was not asking for the decentralization of governmental authority or responsibility but did ask that already decentralized services be brought closer to the local level.

O'Connor said he will introduce legislation to carry out his ideas. Part of the program can be implemented immediately but others will take years, he said.

In the first part of his program he traced the history of the "community planning boards" provided for in the 1961 City Charter.

He urged that the City Planning Commission in cooperation with borough presidents divide the boroughs into districts based on historical neighborhood lines.

Favors District Boards

O'Connor said each district should have a planning board of at least 25 members, who would advise their borough president on all local matters. All city offices and bodies which normally would hold a public hearing on a local matter should be required to consult with the affected board on the local matter.

The borough president's offices should assign a full-time staff member to each board and possibly a part-time governmental intern — a graduate student at a city university.

O'Connor's second point called for city departments that already have decentralized operations to use the community district lines, "whenever possible," as the geographical basis for their work.

His third point advocated developing community centers "so that many of the city services could be grouped in or about the same" building.

Local health centers and libraries could be located in schools, or police and fire stations could be combined, he suggested. The center could contain an office to channel citizens' complaints and problems to city officials.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — A stock market recovery picked up steam early this afternoon, stimulated by stock splits and reports of higher profits.

A 2-for-1 stock split by United Air Lines and a raised dividend gave another push to the airline group although these issues have been so strong recently that many were faltering on profit taking. United halved a 2-point rise.

A 2-for-1 stock split for Standard Brands accompanied by a dividend hike pushed that stock up a couple of points or more.

Aerospace defense stocks continued to advance, with further buying prompted by talk that bombing of North Viet Nam may be renewed.

Coppers, electronics, rubbers and motors also advanced.

Utilities were somewhat steadier although American Telephone was just about holding its own, a shade above its 1965-66 low reached Wednesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .6 at 368.9 with industrials up 1.3, rails off .2 and utilities up .2.

Problem for Commander

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Who's who?

That's what Cmdr. Robert E. Bodamer would like to know with three brothers named Hoos aboard his ship, the destroyer Morton.

Alan Hoos, 22, got brother Bob, 21, to transfer to the destroyer from a Maryland naval station. Brother Bill, 19, was on another destroyer but his mother requested his transfer to the Morton.

There are three more Hoos boys back in Wheeling, Ill.

'DOGNAPED' POODLES BACK HOME—Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Ford, of Scituate, Mass., coddle miniature poodles, "Bon-Bon" and "Batette" after the dogs were returned to their home. The dogs were reportedly stolen last week after a bizarre set of events that included payment of a $788 ransom to gun-carrying "dognapers." Ford, a lawyer, had offered a reward of $1,000 for return of the poodles. (AP Wirephoto)

Capitol News In Brief

Up to Nation Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — After giving thousands of disadvantaged youths hope through training, it's now up to the nation to see that they get jobs, a Job Corps official says.

David Squire, deputy director of the corps, says the Plans for Progress program will hold seminars in 25 cities to persuade industry to hire Job Corps graduates and trainees from other programs.

"They are going to be breathing down the country's neck," Square said, "and we had sure better be providing them with job opportunities."

Plans for Progress is a voluntary group formed by more than 300 corporations.

Glowing Ink on Stamps

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to increase the efficiency of its automatic canceling and facing machines, the Post Office Department is going to use glowing ink on postage stamps.

You won't be able to see the glow—not unless you use an ultraviolet light—but the postal system's 284 facing and canceling machines will.

The machines will automatically face all envelopes in the same direction, and cancel them at the rate of about 30,000 an hour, Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien reports.

Only One Refueling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's proposed new nuclear aircraft carrier will be refueled only once during its 25-year life span.

Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover told the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy that the nuclear cores for the carrier's two reactors will last 13 years.

President Johnson requested funds for the nation's second nuclear-powered carrier in his budget message to Congress.

Move Closer

The United States and the Soviet Union, cochairmen and major antagonists in the 4-year-old discussions, seem to have moved a bit closer to each other during the four-month recess of the conference.

In disarmament discussions in the U.N. General Assembly in New York, both sides have warned that time for agreement soon may run out. They have drawn a grim picture of the threat of a spread of atomic arms.

Red Cross First Aid Skill Noted In Job Mishaps

A first aid trained employe is a two-time winner. He protected his own life by being more alert to accident hazards and is prepared to protect the lives of others by knowing what to do when an accident occurs.

J. D. Edwards, a foreman in a glass plant in Ft. Smith, Ark., is such a man and was on the job when a fellow workman, Andrew P. Sharum, received a deep cut on his head that severed an artery. The foreman saved the injured man from fatal hemorrhagnig by applying direct pressure to the wound, a skill learned in a Red Cross Advanced First Aid Course.

Proof of Accident Cut

On job after job there is proof that accdients decrease when workers have been trained in first aid because workers become more alert to hazards and because they know what to do if an accident occurs. For example, at the Chicago Carton Division of Waldorf Paper Products a company of 486 employes, President J. R. Redpath reported the time lost from employe injuries dropped 50 per cent after the company initiated a Red Cross first aid training program.

Off the job, the first aid trained employe frequently becomes a life saver by using the skills to help his fellow men. Lee D. Tracy is one example. He saved the life of a doctor by using resuscitation skills learned in a Red Cross Standard First Aid course taken on the job for the Dravo Corporation, Pittsbu.gh, Pa.

The near- tradgedy took place on a plane en route to Pittsburgh when a fellow passenger, Dr. D. S. Lighthizer, became ill and stopped breathing because food had lodged in his windpipe. The doctor failed to respond to oxygen, and for almost an hour Tracy worked over him, administering mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration each time breathing stopped. Medical help was waiting when the plane landed in Pittsburgh, and the doctor recovered.

Lt. Frank A. Parenti Jr., of the Allendale, N. J. police department used Red Cross first aid training to save the life of a 3-months-old child. The officer was among those who were in the Midland Bank in Paramus at Christmas time when a young mother rushed in crying "My baby has stopped breathing. I think he is dead" Lt. Parenti quickly snatched the baby from the mother's arms and began giving him mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration. Five minutes later, a lusty cry from the baby, Derek Hansen, echoed through the bank lobby and a grateful mother, Mrs. Jerome Hansen, of River Vale, received her child from the arms of the smiling officer.

In addition to its lifesaving values, first aid training means more dollars in the pockets of workers and employers. Production stays up and paychecks come regularly because of the marked decrease in accidents.

This is just one of the many Red Cross services which are given free of charge. The services of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross are financed by the Ulster County Community Chest and the Red Cross Month of March Fund Drive.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Couple Advised to Buy Stocks With Earnings

Q) "My wife just gave birth to our first child and generous relatives and friends have given our baby girl about $1,100 in cash. We would like to invest this money in good growth stocks for her future. We would appreciate your recommendation on what to buy and whether to put all the funds in one stock."
S.P.

A) Please accept my warmest congratulations on the birth of your first child. Since your funds are as yet limited and she has many more years to go before the money will be needed for her education or marriage, I believe you should buy two conservative issues with consistent growth records which still sell at relatively moderate earnings multipliers.

My first suggestion would be General Foods, leader in its field, which sells for little more than 20 times my estimate of 1966 earnings. My second would be American Cyanamid, a diversified chemical company with a major interest in pharmaceuticals (Lederle division) and a strong stake in plastics (Formica). Here, too, I consider reasonable the earnings multiplier of around 20 and I look for continued strong growth in the years ahead.

Q) "Would you please tell me if a person of 15 has the right to buy or sell stocks?"
G. F.

A) The purchase and sale of stocks constitutes a contract and no minor has the legal right to make any contract whatsoever. However, another person can make a gift to you of stocks, under the Uniform Gifts to Minors Act in force in almost all states.

When a gift is made, the donor —usually the parent—buys the shares and will have them registered in his name or in that of another acceptable person as Custodian for you under the Act. When bought and registered in this way, the gift is a complete and irrevocable donation to you and the Custodian must account to you for it until you are 21, when control passes to you.

Rocky, Lindsay Meet Socially At Diamond Ball

By BERNIE GOULD

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor and Mrs. John V. Lindsay were society's brightest jewels Wednesday night among the 400 at the Seventh Annual Diamond Ball at the Plaz Hotel.

But it took a full half hour for the governor and mayor, both Republicans, to meet at the swank $100-a-plate function, and then it was Rockefeller who broke the ice.

First Social Meeting

The governor said it was the first social function that he and Lindsay had attended together since the latter became mayor Jan. 1.

News photographers anxiously waited for one of the two men to make the first overture toward the other, as they sat at tables not more than 20 feet apart.

But neither gave the first sign of recognizing the other for 10 minutes, although a newsman had apprised each individually that the other was there.

Finally Rockefeller taking his brother Winthrop by the arm, walked over to the Lindsay table. This was 30 minutes after the Lindsays first arrived at the function.

The three men shook hands and exchanged amenities.

Running in Arkansas

"He's running for governor of Arkansas," Rockefeller told Lindsay, motioning to Winthrop.

Winthrop Rockefeller, a Republican candidate, seeks a second go-around with Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas next November after losing to Faubus in the general election two years ago.

Winthrop Rockefeller said later he asked his brother to introduce him to Lindsay, whom he had never met.

The mayor told the Arkansas Rockefeller in reference to the November election, "You'll make it."

"After all," Winthrop said afterward, "he (Lindsay) made it."

Both Republican office-seekers ran in predominantly Democratic areas. Lindsay becoming the first GOP mayor of New York since the late Fiorello H. La Guardia.

"With two winners," Winthrop said, nodding toward his brother and Lindsay, "I've good advice."

The dinner-dance was held for the benefit of the Institute of International Education.

Prominent Republicans at the affair included John Lodge, former governor of Connecticut and onetime U.S. Ambassador to Spain, and Charles Percy, who is seeking the Republican nomination for senator in Illinois after losing a gubernatorial battle there two years ago.

Avert Teacher

the KTF attorney was strenuously opposed by Connelly, Board attorney. He contended that the Board had for many years engaged in collective bargaining negotiations with both the KTF and the Kingston Teachers Association, an affiliate of the National Teachers Association. It was noted that some of the teachers in the Kingston school system do not belong to either of the associations.

Stay Is Allowed

At the end of the five-hour hearing the teachers application to stay the Board's plan was finally consented to by the Board's attorney and the stay was allowed by Justice Koremen. The effect of this, the KTF contend, is that the Board cannot take any steps to further an election under the Liaison Plan until the Court finally decides the KTF's application for the temporary injunction. In turn Attorney Martocci, cousel for the KTF, agreed that the stay against the KTF withholding services also be continued until the Court acts upon the Board's motion for a temporary injunction staying the teachers from walking out next Tuesday.

Justice Koreman reserved decision on all matters and allowed time for both sides to submit briefs.

Pending decision by the Court the status quo is to be maintained by both the Federation and the Board of Education.

The Federation announced today that it will meet Friday at 4 p. m. in the MJM cafeteria to give more detailed information on the five-hour proceedings which took place Wednesday at Albany.

Arthur Withall, president of the Kingston Board of Education, said this morning he had no comment to make on the proceedings in Albany Wednesday before Justice Koreman. Both sides had agreed to maintain a Status Quo pending the decision by Justice Koreman, Withall said.

Meanwhile the board will meet in open session tonight at 9:30 o'clock at which time a new teacher salary schedule will be presented.

The question of salaries has not been one of the issues involved in the present dispute between the KTF and the Board. The Federation sought a secret ballot election to choose one organization to represent all teachers and the board refused. The Federation then threatened to walk out. The Board obtained a show cause order from Justice Harry E. Schirick, returnable last Friday before Justice Koreman at Troy, requiring the KTF to show cause why a restraining order should not be granted preventing a walkout. The matter was adjourned until Wednesday before Justice Koreman at Albany. At that time the KTF attorney took the surprise move for an injunction against the Board to prevent it from putting into effect their proposed liaison plan.

There was no indication when Justice Koreman would decide the matters before him.

Chicago Crime Stoppers

Tips Help Slash Windy City Rate

CHICAGO (AP) — A housewife looked out a window of her Southwest Side home and saw two men hovering near a garage in the dusk of an autumn evening. She telephoned PO 5-1313.

Appeal Started Operation

A police squad, alerted by radio, arrived quickly. The men fled. The officers fired a warning shot, collared them and retrieved the loot from a burglary of a nearby house.

Within a week during the recent Christmas-New Year period, calls from three different persons provided police with information for raids on two lottery games and a house where narcotics were stored on the South Side.

Those are examples of how the Chicago Police Department's "Operation Crime Stop" functions.

Supt. O. W. Wilson started it April 13, 1964, with an appeal to all citizens to report crime or suspicion of crime.

"Crime is everyone's business," he said. "We want to enlist the eyes and ears of all Chicagoans."

"Citizens reporting incidents to police," he said, "can remain anonymous if they desire."

Help in 5,273 Arrests

Thousands of calls have been made since then. A report on the first 21 months shows that the telephoned tips resulted in 5,273 arrests. They involved such offenses as robbery, rape, burglary, shoplifting, pocket picking, auto theft, purse snatching and deceptive practices.

Phase II of the program, begun in October 1964, is aimed at bringing in organizations, business firms, public utilities and governmental agencies by asking their top officials to pledge the aid of their members and workers.

500,000 Vow Support

"We have more than 500,000 citizens pledged to support Operation Crime Stop," Wilson said.

Phase III, started Jan. 11, seeks cooperation of citizens in cracking down on narcotics, gambling, prostitution and the high-interest loan racket — sources of income for hoodlums and the enduring Chicago crime syndicate.

Wilson, in an over-all review of the police and public partnership, said it has been successful. It helped, he said, to reduce crime rates in 1964 and 1965.

Kansas City, Mo., provides another indicator. A similar project called Crime Alert, will be started there Feb. 1.

Ronder Elected To Savings Loan Presidency Again

Alfred D. Ronder was re-elected president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston at the annual report meeting held recently in the associations temporary quarters at 69 Main Street. Ronder will preside for a term of one year.

Others Named

At this same meeting, Albert C. Flanagan, N. Jansen Fowler, Edward M. Huben and S. D. Scudder Jr. were reelected for three year terms to the board of directors.

Commenting on the associations new building Mr. Ronder said, "Our directors and friends are happy to see the progress we are making. We have had many complimentary remarks about the Georgian-Colonial architecture of our new building which preserves the historic traditions of the community. All of us are looking forward to the day when we open the doors of our new edifice for all to admire."

Other officers appointed for a one year term were: H. Van Wyck Darrow, executive vice president; Scudder, secretary (reelected for one year term); Huben, treasurer (reelected for one year term); William R. Stall, assistant vice president; H. Edward Carter, assistant secretary; Edward R. Dunn, assistant treasurer; Henry J. Jordan, auditor; Guy C. Seligman, mortgage officer; Terrence F. Martin, manager of the Ulster office and Henry V. Fallerman, manager of the Highland office.

Named to continue on the board of directors were; J. Ellis Briggs, Arthur J. Burns, Chauncy M. Lane, Gilbert A. Schline, Walter R. Seaman, George J. Silkworth, Arthur H. Wicks, Beatrice H. Wadlin and Ronder.

Fowler was also appointed attorney for the association and Stewart T. Schantz associate attorney for the Highland office.

Several staff appointments were made known at the meeting. Mrs. Marion Findholt was named head teller and Mrs. Gina Linehan, along with Mrs. Mabel MacAvery, administrative assistants.

Darrow, executive vice president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, pointed out in the annual report that dividends paid to the associations savers reached an all time high in 1965 and that even more progress was in store for the coming year.

Returns from Leave

Harry Streifer, an English teacher at New Paltz Central High School, has returned from a trip which included stopovers in Tel Aviv, Athens, Rome, Zurich, Paris, Barcelona, Palma, and Madrid. Highlights of the tour were a week living with members of a Kibbutz; four days at Delphi, on Mount Parnassus; a stay at Sorrento and the Bay of Naples; a visit to the Prado Museum in Madrid with its vast exhibition of El Greco, Goya, Velasquez, and Rubens; and a stop at the city of Toledo, preserved in its original condition.

Would Clamp Down On Land Speculation

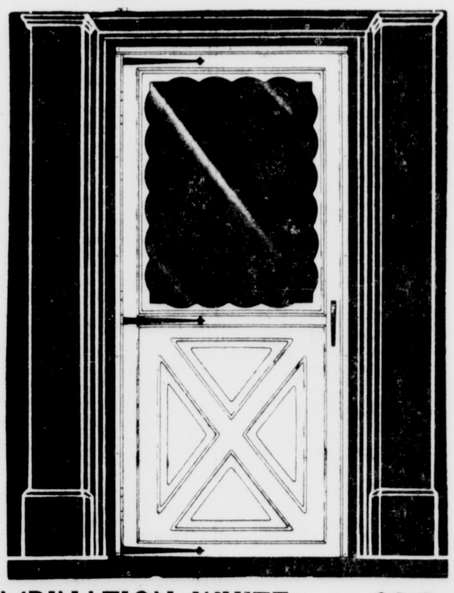

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Delaware River basin commission has urged state and local governments to clamp down on "land speculation in the Delaware Gap and National Recreation Area and the Tocks Island reservoir."

The commission, at its monthly meeting Wednesday, urged state, county and municipal governments to use "their full powers to control land use."

The commission cited what it called "substantial evidence of land speculation" in the newly-proposed recreation area, which embraces parts of northeastern Pennsylvania, northwestern New Jersey and southeastern New York.
